Genesis and Geology For People of Faith and People of Fact Steve Morreale, 2023-03-30 Steve Morreale always believed in God As a small boy he would look up at the clouds in the sky and try to catch a glimpse of God looking down on him After all wasn't God watching over us Lacking any in depth understanding of the Bible his faith remained simple and vulnerable to the nonbelieving scientifically educated individuals he encountered Steve's vulnerability reached a peak when he began studying geology in college The real facts of science not the unproven theories conspired to eliminate God from Steve's life equation Well meaning Christians required a Young Earth Creationist view that flew in the face of facts Those small elements of truth could not be ignored they could be seen touched and calculated Faith could not erase them Eventually Steve turned to the God of his childhood and began to read the Bible It's message of hope touched him Could that hope and the facts of geology be reconciled Genesis and Geology For People of Faith and People of Fact walks through the six days of Creation That walk describes what God created and geology explains how He created it
