

The Lookout Man

The background of the slide is an abstract painting. It features a large, dark, swirling shape in the lower half, possibly representing a body of water or a landscape feature. The upper half is lighter and more textured, with various shades of gray and brown. The overall style is expressive and painterly.

Astronomical Knowledge Transmission Through Illustrated Aratea Manuscripts Marion Dolan,2017-08-22 This carefully researched monograph is a historical investigation of the illustrated Aratea astronomical manuscript and its many interpretations over the centuries Aratus 270 B C E Greek poem describing the constellations and astrological phenomena was translated and copied over 800 years into illuminated manuscripts that preserved and illustrated these ancient stories about the constellations The Aratea survives in its entirety due to multiple translations from Greek to Latin and even to Arabic with many illuminated versions being commissioned over the ages The survey encompasses four interrelated disciplines history of literature history of myth history of science and history of art Aratea manuscripts by their nature are a meeting place of these distinct branches and the culling of information from historical literature and from the manuscripts themselves focuses on a wider holistic view a narrow approach could not provide a proper prospective What is most essential to know about this work is that because of its successive incarnations it has survived and been reinterpreted through the centuries which speaks to its importance in all of these disciplines This book brings a better understanding of the history changes and transmission of the original astronomical Phaenomena poem Historians art historians astronomy lovers and historians of astronomy will learn more specialized details concerning the Aratea and how the tradition survived from the Middle Ages It is a credit to the poetry of Aratus and the later interpreters of the text that its pagan aspects were not edited nor removed but respected and maintained in the exact same form despite the fact that all sixty Aratea manuscripts mentioned in this study were produced under the rule of Christianity Scribner's Monthly, an Illustrated Magazine for the People ,1882 The Way We Live Now ... With Illustrations Anthony Trollope,1875 The Last Three Soldiers (Illustrations) William Henry Shelton,1897 Example in this ebook CHAPTER I COMPLETING THE LINE If Andy Zachary the guide had not mysteriously disappeared from his home within the month which followed the events of the night of the 2d of July in the year 1864 sooner or later the postmaster in the Cove on one side and the people in the valley on the other must have learned of the presence of the little colony on the summit of the great rock On that particular night the cavalcade had come silently and secretly over the mountains by an unfrequented trail from the last station on Upper Bald which towered above the Sandy River country The troopers had followed the guide in single file along the ridges and down the stony trails and now when they emerged on the open Cove road for the first time Andy fell back to the captain's side in his butternut suit and mangy fur cap with his long rifle slung behind his broad square shoulders. For that night his will was law above that of the captain and before the three pack mules at the end of the train had come out on the road the head of the column had turned up a washout to the left which presently brought the whole outfit into the shelter of a grove of pines alongside a deserted log cabin. It was just a trifle past midnight by the captain's watch and the full moon which hung above the ridge to the west would light the Cove face of old Whiteside for yet an hour and during the darkness which must follow in the small hours of the morning there would be ample time to steal through the sleeping settlement and find a lodgment high up on the mountain which was the objective of the expedition. The troopers dismounted and some lay down on the ground by the horses while two kindled a fire in the stone chimney of the cabin and made coffee for the others. Corporal Bromley leaned a bundle of red and white flags against the door post and after turning aside with Lieutenant Coleman and Philip Welton to inspect their supplies on the pack mules the three joined the captain and the guide in the shadow of that end of the cabin which looked toward the singular mountain standing boldly between the Cove and the valley beyond. That it was a mighty fortress unscalable on its western side could be seen at a glance. The broad moonlight fell full on a huge boulder whose mighty top a thousand feet above the Cove was fringed with a tall forest growth that looked in the distance like stunted berry bushes and whose rounded granite side was streaked with black storm stains where the rains of centuries had coursed down. The moonlight picked out white spots underneath the huge folds which here and there belted the rock and protected its under face from the storms. These were the spots which the rills dribbled over and the torrents jumped clear of to meet their old tracks on the bulging rock below. It looked for all the world as if the smoke from huge fires had been curling against the mountain for ages so black were the broad upward streaks and so white in the moon's light were the surrounding faces of the rock. Phil was the first to speak. To be continue in this ebook
