Zulu 2013 Memo Paper 2

Jennifer W. Kyker

Zulu 2013 Memo Paper 2:

The Nightwatchman Hlonipha Mokoena, 2025-08 The Nightwatchman Essays on Portraiture and the Black Male Figure in Colonial South Africa brings into focus the African policeman as a subject of portraiture While colonial governments co-opted and conscripted Africans into military and policing services it was after the Zulu defeat of the English in the battle of Isandlwana that a genre of photography developed around images of the Zulu warrior and Zulu policeman In this illustrated book Hlonipha Mokoena extends the literature on colonial ethnographic photography by creating a narrative of nightwatchman portraiture from the rich archive of images Although the origins of this genre lay in the representation of Fingoes amaMfengu during the frontier wars she argues that an ethnological spectacle of the Zulu male body was inaugurated after the last Zulu king Cetshwayo was photographed as a posing subject While much research has focussed on the African man employed in emasculating labour or as a functionary of settler power this book shifts debates about how the body moves in history Placed in uniform the male subject becomes aestheticised and admired Mokoena focuses less on the idiosyncrasies of the uniform than on the sartorial selection processes and co-optation of colonial aesthetic culture that constructed the idea of the Nonqgayi or nightwatchman as a fully formed photographic presence The beauty captured in these images upends conceptions of colonial photography as a tool of oppression In its focus on the figure of the black and brown fighting man The Nightwatchman offers an innovative work on the history of portraiture and dress in colonial South Africa Incorporating insights from African history art history anthropology and critical theory it offers new insights about the use of men of colour in colonial warfare and new avenues for the interpretation of visual representations of the black male figure

Violence, Inequality and Transformation: Apartheid Survivors on South Africa's Ongoing Transition Jasmina Brankovic, Brian Mphahlele, Sindiswa Nunu, Agnes Ngxukuma, Nompumelelo Njana, Yanelisa Sishuba, 2020-01-29 Despite its lauded political transition in 1994 South Africa continues to have among the highest levels of violence and inequality in the world Organised survivors of apartheid violations have long maintained that we cannot adequately address violence in the country let alone achieve full democracy without addressing inequality This book is built around extensive quotes from members of Khulumani Support Group the apartheid survivors social movement and young people growing up in Khulumani families It shows how these survivors who bridge the past and the present through their activism understand and respond to socioeconomic drivers of violence Pointing to the continuities between apartheid oppression and post apartheid marginalisation in everyday life the narratives detail ways in which the democratic dispensation has strengthened barriers to social transformation and helped enable violence They also present strategies for effecting change through collaboration dialogue and mutual training and through partnerships with diverse stakeholders that build on local level knowledge and community based initiatives The lens of violence offers new and manageable ways to think about reducing inequality while the lens of inequality shows that violence is a complex web of causes pathways and effects that requires a big picture approach to unravel The survivors narratives suggest innovative strategies for promoting a just transition through people driven transformation that go well beyond the constraints of South Africa s transitional justice practice to date A result of participatory research conducted in collaboration with and by Khulumani members this book will be of interest to activists students researchers and policy makers working on issues of transitional justice inequality and violence

Oliver Mtukudzi Jennifer W. Kyker, 2016-10-31 Oliver Tuku Mtukudzi a Zimbabwean guitarist vocalist and composer has performed worldwide and released some 50 albums One of a handful of artists to have a beat named after him Mtukudzi blends Zimbabwean traditional sounds with South African township music and American gospel and soul to compose what is known as Tuku Music In this biography Jennifer W Kyker looks at Mtukudzi s life and art from his encounters with Rhodesian soldiers during the Zimbabwe war of liberation to his friendship with American blues artist Bonnie Raitt With unprecedented access to Mtukudzi Kyker breaks down his distinctive performance style using the Shona concept of hunhu or human identity through moral relationships as a framework By reading Mtukudzi s life in connection with his lyrics and the social milieu in which they were created Kyker offers an engaging portrait of one of African music s most recognized performers Interviews with family friends and band members make this a penetrating sensitive and uplifting biography of one of the world s most popular musicians

The charcoal transition Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-06 Charcoal is widely used for cooking and heating in developing countries The consumption of charcoal has been at high level and the demand may keep growing over the next decades particularly in sub Saharan Africa Some preliminary studies indicate that among commonly used cooking fuels unsustainably produced charcoal can be the most greenhouse gas intensive fuels and simple measures could deliver high GHG mitigation benefits Through the Paris Agreement on climate change adopted in 2015 countries set themselves ambitious targets to curb climate change and forest related measures have an important role to play in climate change mitigation and adaptation Over 70% of the countries who have submitted their intended nationally determined contributions NDCs mention forestry and land use mitigation measures Despite the importance of woodfuel in many countries few have explicitly included measures to reduce emissions from woodfuel production and consumption Many of the NDCs that include forestry do not yet provide detailed information on how mitigation is to be achieved The overall objective of the publication is to provide data and information to allow for informed decision making on the contribution sustainable charcoal production and consumption can make to climate change mitigation More specifically the publication aims to answer the following questions What are the climate change impacts of the current practices on charcoal production and consumption worldwide and across regions What is the potential of sustainable charcoal production in GHG emission reductions and how such potential can be achieved What are the key barriers to sustainable charcoal production and what actions are required to develop a climate smart charcoal sector

Diachrony of differential argument marking Ilja A. Seržant, Alena Witzlack-Makarevich, 2018 While there are languages that code a particular grammatical role e.g. subject or direct object in one and the same way across the board many more languages code the same grammatical roles differentially The variables which condition the differential argument marking or DAM pertain to various properties of the NP such as animacy or definiteness or to event semantics or various properties of the clause While the main line of current research on DAM is mainly synchronic the volume tackles the diachronic perspective The tenet is that the emergence and the development of differential marking systems provide a different kind of evidence for the understanding of the phenomenon The present volume consists of 18 chapters and primarily brings together diachronic case studies on particular languages or language groups including e.g. Finno-Ugric, Sino-Tibetan and Japonic languages The volume also includes a position paper which provides an overview of the typology of different subtypes of DAM systems a chapter on computer simulation of the emergence of DAM and a chapter devoted to the cross-linguistic effects of referential hierarchies on DAM

The State of the World's Forests 2018 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-07-06 Nearly three years ago world leaders agreed to the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) the central framework for guiding development policies throughout the world This edition of The State of the World's Forests is aimed at enhancing our understanding of how forests and their sustainable management contribute to achieving several of the SDGs Time is running out for the world's forests we need to work across sectors bring stakeholders together and take urgent action The State of the World's Forests 2018 identifies actions that can be taken to increase the contributions of forests and trees that are necessary to accelerate progress towards the SDGs It is now critical that steps be taken to work more effectively with the private sector and the informal forest sector must be transformed in order to bring broader economic social and environmental benefits Seventy years ago when FAO completed its first assessment of the world's forest resources the major concern was whether there would be enough timber to supply global demand now we recognize the greater global relevance of our forests and trees For the first time The State of the World's Forests 2018 provides an assessment of the contribution of forests and trees to our landscapes and livelihoods The purpose of this publication is to provide a much wider audience with an understanding of why forests and trees matter for people the planet and posterity

Tribing and Untribing the Archive Carolyn Hamilton, Nessa Leibhammer, 2016 These volumes track how the domain of the tribal and traditional was marked out and came to be sharply distinguished from modernity how it was denied a changing history and an archive and was endowed instead with a timeless culture These volumes also offer strategies for engaging with the materials differently from the interventions effected in contemporary artworks to the inserting of nameless timeless objects of material culture into histories of individualized and politicized experience Publisher's description

The Changing Face of Land and Conservation in Post-colonial Africa George Barrett, Shirley Brooks, Jenny Josefsson, Nqobile Zulu, 2016-03-22 The year 2013 marked the 100th anniversary of the 1913 Land Act in South Africa which legalised the violent dispossession and alienation of the African majority from the land It is common cause that the alienation of land for conservation purposes introduced to Africa under colonial rule has continued more or less uninterrupted until today However while nature conservation practices inevitably raise challenging questions relating to land and land use there has thus far been little concentrated effort to bring together scholars working on the land question particularly around issues of land tenure with those whose work focuses on questions of nature construction and the social impacts of conservation in an African context Compiled from research presented at a ground breaking interdisciplinary conference held at Rhodes University in Grahamstown South Africa in 2012 the chapters in this book made their first appearance in a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary African Studies JCAS in July 2013 The book brings critical interdisciplinary analyses of the complex interrelations between contemporary neoliberal conservation practices in post colonial Africa into conversation with the well trodden territory of land use and contested land issues on the continent Anchored by an intellectual curiosity about the extent to which past practices continue into the present and with what consequences the book provides fresh insights into the complex relationship between land and conservation in contemporary Africa

Enabling legal frameworks for sustainable land use investments in Zambia: Legal assessment report Pamela T Sambo, Caroline Haywood, D Andrew Wardell, Robert Kibugi, Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger, 2015-11-08 The International Development Law Organization IDLO and the Center for International Forestry Research CIFOR assessed the legal frameworks that govern land use activities and investments in Zambia The economy of Zambia relies significantly on land and natural resource capital The Government of Zambia has identified land use investments as essential to the development of key economic sectors energy forestry mining and agriculture Land use investments are increasing in Zambia led by both foreign and domestic private investors The Constitution explicitly recognizes the importance of balancing the need to attract investments to develop the country with the need to ensure their environmental and social sustainability
