The Nervous System!

Directions: People come in all shapes and sizes, but there are also many traits that we share. These traits make us human. For example, we are all born with a nervous system that includes a brain, spinal cord and nerves. While the brain is boss, all three work together to control your body. Label and color the picture below based on the information from today's class.

WORD BANK & COLOR GUIDE

Spinal Cord- I work for the brain. I carry messages to and from the smaller nerves.  Orange

Brain- I am the boss of your body. I receive messages about the environment from the spinal cord and nerves. I tell your body parts what to do!  Red

Nerves- We are helpers that can be found all over your body! Our job is to pass messages about the environment to your spinal cord and brain!  Blue

Using Your Brain Kathy Furgang, 2019-12-15 The brain is an amazing organ. It controls all of the actions, thoughts, and signals of the rest of the body. This informative book illustrates the parts of the brain and central nervous system and how they operate the entire body. With accessible text, fun facts, and color photographs, it explores the main parts of the cerebrum, cerebellum, and brain stem, as well as the neurons that connect parts of the central nervous system. This exciting ride through the body touches on the science of how we all operate.

Somatic-Oriented Therapies Herbert Grassmann, Maurizio Stupiggia, Stephen W. Porges, 2025-02-04 An innovative collection of research and theory from leading voices in the fields of trauma and somatic therapies, Somatic-Oriented Therapies represents a significant consolidation of innovative research and clinical approaches aimed at addressing trauma through various somatic modalities. In the past six decades, a multitude of therapeutic methods have emerged globally, revolutionizing trauma treatment and existential distress management. However, these approaches have often diverged, hindering the development of a cohesive, distinct field independent of traditional paradigms. This volume of collected work from some of the world's leading experts in trauma aims to delineate this novel domain of research and clinical intervention. It elucidates the common thread linking the contributing authors and introduces a new clinical perspective. Central to this perspective is the recognition of the profound significance of the body-to-body relationship between therapist and patient, the critical role of trust establishment within the clinical context as a prerequisite for deep transformation, and the possibility to question the body-finding-unthought-of avenues of transformation.
