Handbook of Research on Strategic Management of Interaction, Presence, and Participation in Online Courses Kyei-Blankson, Lydia, 2015-11-05 Online learning has become a prominent and inseparable component of higher education in recent years. Questions related to course structure, levels of interaction, presence, and participation within online courses persist and invite further inquiry for determining factors that encourage effective teaching and learning in online environments. The Handbook of Research on Strategic Management of Interaction, Presence, and Participation in Online Courses explores models of course development and delivery techniques to improve instruction, learning, and student satisfaction in online courses. Covering topics such as rates of participation, student engagement, and retention, and social development, this handbook serves as a resource for educators in online learning environments as well as for course designers and developers of online courses and researchers whose agenda includes examining interaction, presence, and participation in online courses.

Hiring the Next Generation of Faculty: New Directions for Community Colleges, Number 152 Cejda, John P. Murray, 2011-01-18 The first chapter in this volume presents an overview of the faculty personnel challenges facing community colleges; the next three discuss the socialization and professional development of new faculty. Authors stress the importance of understanding differences among the types of community colleges and the importance of gender and racial/ethnic diversity among the faculty of the institutions who educate the majority of undergraduate females and students of color. The volume concludes with chapters on legal aspects related to the faculty employment and the experiences of presidents and senior instructional administrators giving valuable guidance to those actively involved in the hiring process. At the heart of this volume is the continued commitment to the community college ideal of providing educational access and, through quality instruction, facilitating student learning and success. Previous research indicated that community college faculty retire at or near the traditional age of sixty-five. With an aging faculty, enrollments that are reaching unprecedented levels, and the federal government calling for the community college to take an even greater role in workforce training, community colleges will need to both replace significant portions of their faculty and hire additional faculty lines between now and 2020. This next hiring wave has implications for community colleges, the diverse student populations who attend these institutions, and society in general. This is the 152nd volume of the Jossey-Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Community Colleges, Essential to the professional libraries of presidents vice presidents deans and other leaders in today's open door institutions New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission Handbook of Research on Pedagogical Models for Next-Generation Teaching and Learning Keengwe, Jared, 2017-10-31 Every generation of students comes to the classroom with different needs than that of their predecessors Implementing new methods and styles of teaching to meet these diverse needs will provide students with the best chance of success in their educational careers The Handbook of Research on Pedagogical Models for Next Generation Teaching and Learning is a critical scholarly source that examines the most effective and efficient techniques for implementing new educational strategies in a classroom setting Featuring pertinent topics including mixed reality simulations interactive lectures reflexive teaching models and project based learning this is an ideal publication for educators academicians students and researchers that are interested in discovering more about the recent advances in educational fields Student Services John H.
