more dialogue across national and conceptual boundaries about how to develop the theoretical tools needed to understand both the historical roots of contemporary forms of racialised social and political relations and the contemporary forms through which race is made and re made A key argument that runs through the book is the need to develop conceptual frameworks that can help us to make sense of the changing forms of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary societies This means developing more dialogue across national research cultures as well as empirical research that seeks to engage with the key issues raised by contemporary theoretical debates The book will be of interest to both students wanting to develop a deeper understanding of this area of scholarship and to researchers of race ethnicity and migration working in various national and disciplinary environments

Unexpected Encounters Francesco Vietti, 2024-09-01 Exploring the intersections between migration and tourism in the Mediterranean this book is the result of extensive ethnographic research carried out over a decade in the Mediterranean regions It focuses on three interrelated themes the experiences of homecoming migrants who visit their country of origin for holidays the inequalities surrounding the encounters between local people tourists and migrants in borderlands and how migration and tourism affect cultural heritage in European cities The book shows how interconnected mobilities play a crucial role in boosting the global dynamics of cultural social economic and political transformation in the Mediterranean

Fluctuating Transnationalism Astghik Chaloyan, 2017-06-28 This book concerns various modes of being transnational among a diasporic population Armenians in Germany by drawing parallels between the first and second generation migrants It puts forth the questions as to whether or not and which kind of transactional activity ties practices survive over generations and to what extent transnational engagements influence self identification and the sense of belonging It also examines how various modes of transnationalism in turn impact the sense of belonging The book fleshes out new perspectives and interpretations of transnationalism by revealing specific aspects of border spanning ties and by showing that connections to the country of origin do not necessarily need to be sustained or intensive in order to survive They can instead fluctuate depending on various factors but still have the right to be called transnational Working Law Lauren B. Edelman, 2016-11-28 Since the passage of the Civil Rights Act virtually all companies have antidiscrimination policies in place Although these policies represent some progress women and minorities remain underrepresented within the workplace as a whole and even more so when you look at high level positions They also tend to be less well paid How is it that discrimination remains so prevalent in the American workplace despite the widespread adoption of policies designed to prevent it One reason for the limited success of antidiscrimination policies argues Lauren B Edelman is that the law regulating companies is broad and ambiguous and managers therefore play a critical role in shaping what it means in daily practice Often what results are policies and procedures that are largely symbolic and fail to dispel long standing patterns of discrimination Even more troubling these meanings of the law that evolve within companies tend to eventually make their way back into the legal domain inconspicuously influencing lawyers for both plaintiffs and defendants and even judges When courts look to the presence of antidiscrimination policies and personnel manuals to infer fair practices and to the presence of diversity training programs without examining whether these policies are effective in combating discrimination and achieving racial and gender diversity they wind up condoning practices that deviate considerably from the legal ideals

Chasing Freedom Adele Webb, 2022-01-01 How did Rodrigo Duterte earn the support of large segments of the Philippine middle class despite imposing arbitrary rule and offering little tolerance for dissent Has the Filipino middle class heroes of the 1986 People Power Revolution given up on democracy Chasing Freedom tells the story of the love hate relationship of the Philippine middle class with democratic politics It illuminates the historical roots and contingency of the Philippine middle class's reticence about democracy and makes visible the forms of power that have shaped and constrained middle class imaginings of democracy and representations of themselves as political subjects Drawing on historical archival work discourse analysis and fieldwork interviews the chapters trace the attitudes of the Filipino middle class from the time of American colonization in 1898 to the 2016 election of strongman Rodrigo Duterte The argument is that democracy has been and continues to be lived in a deeply ambivalent way The simultaneous saying of yes and no to democracy by citizens is one of the defining features of the Philippines democratic journey The prime source of this ambivalence the book argues is the Janus face of America's democratic imperialism and the deprecation inherent in the project of democratic tutelage According to Webb the Philippines is a bellwether case of what she calls democratic ambivalence In an age when disenchantment with democracy is on the rise it provides lessons of global importance The book's empirical findings support a striking conclusion since ambivalence is not simply a pathology of democracy but one of its persistent features the dynamics of ambivalence need to be at the heart of descriptive and normative accounts of how democracy works

Decolonising the Human Melissa Steyn, William Mporu, 2021-02-01 Decolonising the Human examines the ongoing project of constituting the human in light of the durability of coloniality and the persistence of multiple oppressions The human emerges as a deeply political category historically constructed as a scarce existential resource Once weaponised it allows for the social political and economic elevation of those who are centred within its magic circle and the degradation marginalisation and immiseration of those excluded as the different and inferior Other the less than human Speaking from Africa a key site where the category of the human has been used throughout European modernity to control exclude and deny equality of being the contributors use decoloniality as a potent theoretical and philosophical tool gesturing towards a liberated pluriversal world where human difference will be recognised as a gift not used to police the boundaries of the human Here is a transdisciplinary critical exploration of a wide range of subjects including history politics philosophy sociology anthropology and decolonial studies

Gender and Diversity Studies Ingrid Jungwirth, Carola Bauschke-Urban, 2019-10-07 What concepts of gender and diversity emerge in the different regions and pertinent research and practical fields On the back drop of current European developments from the deregulation of economy a shrinking welfare state to the dissolution and reinforcement of borders the book examines the development of Gender and Diversity Studies in different European regions as well as beyond and focuses on central fields of theoretical reflection empirical research and practical implementation policies and politics

Positioning Diversity in Kenyan Schools Malve von, 2022-06-01 Education is considered key for societies to achieve greater social cohesion and equality Yet schools as the main providers of formal education have increasingly come into question concerning their role in manifesting and perpetuating social categorisations inequalities and discrimination instead of decreasing existing fragmentations and challenging power relations and hierarchies As a diverse society Kenya is faced with power struggles and rivalries between different groups for instance along ethnic lines often constructed deep in colonial history This affects teaching and learning in school and the result is that Kenya is faced with vast disparities in terms of educational access and success rendering some social groups marginalised and others favoured Positioning Diversity at Kenyan Schools explores the ways in which teachers in Kenyan primary and secondary schools experience and deal with social categorisations and diversity in terms of ethnicity gender wealth culture religion etc in their professional practice and in the current education system Using critical pedagogy and diversity theory as a lens for positioning diversity in Kenyan schools the questions that this book sets out to answer are In what ways do the teachers and schools practices lead to transformation in terms of more social equality and less discrimination In what ways do the practices manifest existing group categorisations hierarchies and discrimination How can schools and teaching practices in postcolonial Kenya become more inclusive and foster social cohesion and equality
