Deviance in Contemporary Crime Fiction C.

Gregoriou, 2007-01-30 This book explores the three aspects of deviance that contemporary crime fiction manipulates: linguistic, social, and generic. Gregoriou conducts case studies into crime series by James Patterson, Michael Connelly, and Patricia Cornwell and investigates the way in which these novelists correspondingly challenge those aforementioned conventions.

Autobiographies of Others Lucia Boldrini, 2012-08-21 In this volume Boldrini examines heterobiography, the first-person fictional account of a historic life. Boldrini shows that this mode is widely employed to reflect critically on the historical and philosophical understanding of the human individual, identity, and on the power relationships that define the subject. In such texts the grammatical first person becomes the site of an encounter, a stage where the relationships between historical, fictional, and authorial subjectivities are played out and explored in the double I of author and narrating historical character. In fictional narrator and historical person Boldrini considers the ethical implications of assuming another's first-person voice and the fraught issue of authorial responsibility. Constructions of the body are examined in relation to the material evidence of the subject's existence. Texts studied include Malouf's An Imaginary Life, Carey's True History of the Kelly Gang, Ondaatje's The Englishman's Boy, Adair's The Death of the Author, Banti's Artemisia, Vazquez Montalban's Autobiografía del general Franco. Also discussed among others Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian, Tabucchi's The Last Three Days of Fernando Pessoa, Gimenez Bartlett's Una habitación ajena, A Room of Someone Else's.
