Rubin, H.S. Ross, 2012-12-06 Amy Rubin the seven year old daughter of one of this volume s editors was discussing with her close friend Kristin her teacher s practice of distributing stickers to her classmates for completing their seat work As the conversation continued Joshua Amy s two year old brother although Amy would argue that he more often resembles an albatross around her neck sauntered up to the older children He flashed a broad smile hugged his sister and then grabbed her book of stickers Corey Ross the nine year old son of the other editor was trying to plan a tobogganing party with his friend Claire The problem facing Corey and Claire was that there were too few toboggans to go around for their grade four classmates Jordan Corey s younger brother had agreed to lend his toboggan However Harriet Claire s younger sister and Jordan s close friend had resisted all persuasive attempts to borrow her toboggan The older children decided that the best strategy was to use Jordan s friendship with Harriet and his good example of sibling generosity in presenting their case to Harriet Both of these anecdotes exemplify what this volume on peer relationships and social skills is about Children have friends with whom they discuss issues of perceived social significance During the early elementary school years rather sophisticated conversations and debates concerning topics of reward distribution altruism person

perception social status sibling relations and cooperation can be overheard especially by eavesdropping parents who have professional interests in such matters

Ecosystem Function in Heterogeneous Landscapes Gary M. Lovett, Clive G. Jones, Monica G. Turner, Kathleen C. Weathers, 2007-12-21 Among the most difficult problems in the life sciences is the challenge to understand the details of how ecosystems watersheds landscapes function Yet the welfare of all life not just the human species depends upon the successful functioning of diverse and complicated ecosystems each with various dimensions and compositions Central to this working is the dominance and to a major extent control of ecosystems by organisms which means that these systems are constantly changing as the component organisms change and evolve Such changes increase the challenge to understand the functioning of ecosystems and landscapes Moreover understanding the interactions among the myriad components of these systems is mind boggling as there are scores of biotic probably many thousands of species when the microbial components are fully enumerated through genomics and countless abiotic ions molecules and compounds entities all simultaneously interacting and responding to diverse external factors to produce functional or dysfunctional environments for life This book focuses on the problems of connectedness and ecosystem functioning It is difficult enough to understand how an ecosystem functions when it is considered in isolation but all ecosystems are open and connected to everything else Clearly the inputs to any ecosystem are the outputs from others and vice versa and as such the fluxes represent major if not critical points for managing or changing the overall functioning of an ecosystem or landscape A major challenge is to find appropriate conceptual frameworks to address these complicated problems
