Typical 4100ES MINIPLEX System One-Line Drawing

Introduction

4100ES MINIPLEX transponders connect to a host 4100ES Fire Alarm Control Panel using Simplex® remote unit interface (RUI) communications. At the transponder, RUI communications are received by the transponder interface module and translated into the same internal communications format that is used in the host control panel.

Remotely located modules. With RUI communications, the transponder can remotely provide the same initiating and notification functions that occur at the host control panel without requiring multiple long distance wiring runs. Connections to the host panel are low current communications and audio wiring with distances up to 2500 ft (762 m).

Additional Reference. Refer to document S4100-0100 and the other documents listed on page 3 for additional information concerning the extensive initiating and notification features of the 4100ES fire alarm control panels.
