The Politics of the Commercial Determinants of Health Eduardo Gomez, Angela Carriedo, 2024-12-31 Understanding the international and domestic politics of the commercial determinants of health is a new area of scholarly inquiry Perhaps more than ever the political science policy and public health community needs to better understand the complex political contexts shaping the rise and policy influence of the commercial industry ranging from tobacco to alcohol agribusiness and food products Initial efforts to address the commercial sector's political and policy involvement emerged with the corporate political activity literature which mainly focused on the tobacco industry's efforts to shape noncommunicable disease NCD policy Over the years public health practitioners nutrition and social scientists have built upon this existing literature to expand beyond the tobacco industry looking for example at food and nutrition and alcohol policy in several upper and lower middle income countries With the arrival of several innovative NCD policies throughout the world such as soda taxes and food warning labels coupled with increased international attention through multilateral agencies like the World Health Organization we have now reached a critical juncture in scholarly interest and attention to this topic

Secondary Rules of Primary Importance in International Law Gábor Kajtár, Basak Çali, Marko Milanovic, 2022-10-31 The focus of this edited volume is the often overlooked importance of secondary rules of international law Secondary rules of international law such as attribution causality and the standard and burden of proof have often been neglected in scholarly literature and have seen fragmented application in international legal practice Yet the systemic nature of international law entails that coherent and consistent application of such rules is a key element in reinforcing the legitimacy of decisions of international courts and tribunals Accelerated development of international law and international litigation coupled with the fragmented nature of the adjudicatory terrain calls for theoretical scrutiny and systemic analysis of the developments in the judicial treatment of secondary rules This publication makes three important contributions to the study of secondary rules First it offers a comprehensive expert doctrinal analysis of how standard of review causation evidentiary rules and attribution operate in the case law of international courts or tribunals in fields spanning human rights trade investment and humanitarian law Second it comparatively evaluates the divergent layers of meanings and normative expectations attached to secondary rules in international law scholarship as well as in the judicial practice of international courts and tribunals Finally the book investigates the role that secondary rules play in the development of the primary rules in international law and for the legitimacy of the decisions of international courts and tribunals Earlier scholarly works have not problematized the role of secondary rules of international law in adjudication thoroughly Secondary Rules of Primary Importance in International Law seeks to fill this gap by emphasizing the consequential nature of these secondary rules and argues that the outcome of litigation is fundamentally shaped by the exact standard of proof standard of review or attribution basis that is chosen by adjudicators As such the book offers an important resource for the study and practice of international law against the backdrop of the wide ranging and fragmented nature of international adjudication

The Oxford Handbook of Global Health Politics Colin McInnes, Kelley Lee, Jeremy R. Youde, 2020 Controlling a major infectious disease outbreak or reducing rising rates of diabetes worldwide is not just about applying medical science Protecting and promoting health is inherently a political endeavor that requires understanding of who gets what where and why The Oxford Handbook of Global Health Politics presents the most comprehensive overview of how and why power lies at the heart of global health determinants and outcomes The chapters are written by internationally recognized experts working at the intersection of politics and global health The wide ranging chapters provide key insights for understanding how advances in global health cannot be achieved without attention to political actors processes and outcomes

Law and Global Health Michael D. A. Freeman, Sarah Hawkes, Belinda Bennett, 2014-03 Law and Global Health is the latest volume in the Current Legal Issues series It contains a broad range of articles from scholars and public health experts discussing the interaction between law and public health in low middle and high income countries Investment case for tobacco control in the Islamic Republic of Iran World Health Organization, United Nations Development Programme, 2024-07-30 A key support for FCTC 2030 project countries is the development of a WHO FCTC investment case These investment cases analyze the health and economic costs of tobacco use as well as the potential economic benefits that can come from implementing key WHO FCTC measures Focusing on the economic rationale for tobacco control the WHO FCTC investment cases provide policymakers and other stakeholders with country level evidence to inform tobacco control policy making The investment case for the Islamic Republic of Iran was prepared under the FCTC 2030 project in close collaboration with governments of FCTC 2030 project countries the Convention Secretariat UNDP and WHO The New and Changing Transatlanticism Laurie Buonanno, Natalia Cuglesan, Keith Henderson, 2015-03-24 The European Union and the US are currently negotiating the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership TTIP with potentially enormous economic gains for both partners Experts from the European Union and the US explore not only the groundwork laid for TTIP under the New Transatlanticism but also the key variables economic cultural institutional and political shaping transatlantic policy outcomes Divided into four parts Part I consisting of three chapters contextualizes the transatlantic relationship with an historical survey contemporary foreign relations and policy and cultural dynamics Together these chapters provide the background for understanding the evolving nature of the EU US relationship Part II of this volume focuses on governance and comprises two chapters one on transatlantic governance and the other administrative culture Part III consists of six policy chapters competition trade transport mobility regimes financial services regulation and GMOs Part IV consisting of three chapters explores prospects and challenges associated with transatlanticism including the TTIP The last chapter concludes with lessons learned and future challenges with respect to policy convergence the nature of the EU US relationship power resources and bargaining within the transatlantic partnership and an assessment of the future of deeper cooperation and integration This insightful account into policy cooperation between the EU and the US is a welcomed resource for policy specialists oriented toward comparative public policy wishing to enter the arena of Transatlantic Studies The Routledge Handbook of the Political Economy of Health and Healthcare David Primrose, Rodney D. Loepky, Robin Chang, 2024-02-28 This handbook provides a comprehensive and critical overview of the gamut of contemporary issues around health and healthcare from a political economy perspective Its contributions present a unique challenge to prevailing economic accounts of health and healthcare which narrowly focus on individual behaviour and market processes Instead the capacity of the human body to reach its full potential and the ability of society to prevent disease and cure illness are demonstrated to be shaped by a broader array of political economic processes The material conditions in which societies produce distribute exchange consume and reproduce and the operation of power relations therein influence all elements of human health from food consumption and workplace safety to inequality healthcare and housing and even the biophysical conditions in which humans live This volume explores these concerns across five sections First it introduces and critically engages with a variety of established and cutting edge theoretical perspectives in political economy to conceptualise health and healthcare from neoclassical and behavioural economics to Marxist and feminist approaches The next two sections extend these insights to evaluate the neoliberalisation of health and healthcare over the past 40 years highlighting their individualisation and commodification by the capitalist state and powerful corporations The fourth section examines the diverse manifestation of these dynamics across a range of geographical contexts The volume concludes with a section devoted to outlining more progressive health and healthcare arrangements which transcend the limitations of both neoliberalism and capitalism This volume will be an indispensable reference work for students and scholars of political economy health policy and politics health economics health geography the sociology of health and other health related disciplines Chapters 1-8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license
