Communication and Culture, 2022-06-08 This volume offers unique interdisciplinary views on issues in communication and culture with a central focus on Chinese perspectives as China and the world face the 21st century These perspectives are based upon comparative data and East West cross cultural experience Seventeen chapters plus an introductory chapter that places the topics in perspective report and interpret data here for the first time. The majority of the contributors are Chinese scholars from various disciplines who now share their research on communication with Western as well as Eastern readers The common thread of the essays is the way in which communication influences culture and cultural dimensions impact the processes of communication The authors represent scholars from education communication studies mass communication intercultural communication sociology rhetoric literature law linguistics telecommunications international relations journalism and sociolinguistics Part I presents cultural perspectives on ethics East West relations translation issues cross cultural competence persuasion journalistic acculturation and gender representation in advertisements Part II addresses international and intercultural communication as seen in comparative campus cultures cross cultural interaction between Chinese and Americans the practice of taijiquan the media depiction of watching the legal implications of the internet and the issues of nation building Part III focuses on mediated communication issues in Chinese films China's media campaign for the olympics Chinese youth s use of Western media talk radio in China and the use of new technologies in the post Cold War Twentieth-century Chinese Translation Theory Tak-hung Leo Chan, 2004-01-01 Past attempts at writing a history of era Chinese translation theory have been bedeviled by a chronological approach which often forces the writer to provide no more than a list of important theories and theorists over the centuries Or they have stretched out to almost every aspect related to translation in China so that the historical political backdrop that had an influence on translation theorizing turns out to be more important than the theories themselves In the present book the author hopes to devote exclusive attention to the ideas themselves The approach adopted centers around eight key issues that engaged the attention of theorists through the course of the twentieth century in the hope that a historical account will be presented that is not time bound On the basis of 38 articles translated into English by teachers and scholars of translation the author has written four essays discussing the Chinese characteristics of this body of theory Separately they focus on the impressionistic the modern the postcolonial and the poststructuralist approaches deployed by leading Chinese theorists from 1901 to 1998 It is hoped that publication of this book will make possible cross cultural dialogue with translation academics in the West although the general reader will find much firsthand information on Chinese thinking about translation The Hong Kong Filmography, 1977-1997 John Charles, 2015-06-14 Thanks to the successes of directors and actors like John Woo Jackie Chan and Chow Yun Fat the cinema of Hong Kong is wildly popular worldwide and there is much more to this diverse film culture than most Western audiences realize Beyond martial arts and comedy Hong Kong films are a celebration of the grand diversity and pageantry of

Madsen, 2009-08-01 Chinese migrant communities have reinvented their histories in many contexts but the process of globalization has accelerated and diversified this phenomenon Their fluid identities innovative modernities and generative talents in overcoming prejudice and multiple dislocations offer powerful examples of creative resistance to placebound traditions and nationalist histories As the velocity of exchange in global media and commerce steadily increases emergent and dynamic diasporas are increasingly influential in transnational discourses This volume engages cultural representations of the subjectivities and loyalties of Chinese migrant communities including analyses of aesthetic texts as well as theoretical approaches in cultural studies. The book situates diasporic agency as an historical phenomenon with far reaching political and social implications for both home and host societies and as a major site of contemporary cultural developments By assembling a variety of regional temporal and disciplinary perspectives it interrogates current notions of the diasporic subject raising questions about respective ideological roots and cultural repositories as well as extensions and transgressions of new aesthetic vocabularies Contributors include Roland Altenburger Pheng Cheah Prasenjit Duara Kathrin Ensinger Ping kwan Leung Helen F Siu Tamara S Wagner Mary Shuk han Wong Sau
