Before entering upon an explanation of the teachings of the Rosicrucians, it may be well to say a word about them and about the place they hold in the evolution of humanity. For reasons to be given later, these teachings advocate the dualistic view they hold that man is a spirit enfolding all the powers of God, as the seed enfolds the plant, and that these powers are being slowly unfolded by a series of existences in a gradually improving earthly body; also that this process of development has been performed under the guidance of exalted beings who are yet ordering our steps, though in a decreasing measure as we gradually acquire intellect and will. These exalted Beings, though unseen to the physical eyes, are nevertheless potent factors in all affairs of life and give to the various groups of humanity lessons which will most efficiently promote the growth of their spiritual powers In fact the earth may be likened to a vast training school in which there are pupils of varying age and ability as we find it in one of our own schools There are the savages living and worshipping under most primitive conditions seeing in stick or stone a God Then as man progresses onwards and upwards in the scale of civilization we find a higher and higher conception of Deity which has flowered here in our Western World in the beautiful Christian religion that now furnishes our spiritual inspiration and incentive to improve ROSICRUCIAN MYSTERIES MAX. Greening the Children of God Chad Michael Rimmer, 2019-10-02 Greening the Children of God uncovers the theological roots of the growing ethical imperative to reconnect children to their natural environment. Theologians emphasize the sacramental nature of embedding our lives in creation. Environmental educators emphasize knowledge of local biology. Psychologists emphasize the morally pro-formative experience of care between biodiverse creatures. Together, they affirm that knowing their place in the natural environment helps a child develop an intersubjective ecological identity that nurtures virtues of mutuality and care. During the Scientific Revolution, this ethical harmony was threatened as science and moral theology began to adopt different epistemological methods. Seventeenth-century Anglican priest and poet Thomas Traherne was prescient of the consequences of this divorce and insisted that education should promote a child's attention to the moral dimensions woven into the tapestry of creation. Traherne professed that play, wonder, and a sensory relationship to diverse creatures play a pedagogical role in a child's moral formation. Greening the Children of God establishes the contemporary significance of Traherne's moral theory in conversation with child psychologists, educators, philosophers, and theologians who know that cultivating a place-based relationship to the local ecology helps children perceive creation's deep mutuality and develop a moral identity in the image of a caring Creator.
