The Planting And Development Of Missionary Churches:

The Planting and Development of Missionary Churches John Nevius, 2015-03-30 Writing from over three decades of experience serving God in the mission fields of China John Nevius provides a critical and vitally important look at missionary methods still commonly used in the 21st century that are crippling indigenous churches and hindering the real spread of the Gospel This book outlines what later became known as The Nevius Plan and seeks to counteract the popular idea that rapidly hiring and supporting large numbers of native evangelists to proclaim the Gospel message is Biblical helpful and the best way to reach a people group Nevius proves both from the pages of Scripture and years of his own difficult experiences in China that this is not the case The path to patiently planting and developing healthy missionary churches lies in the age old methods of the Bible and not in the schemes and plans of men that promise rapid growth and fast results This is recommended reading for anyone involved in foreign missions supporting foreign missionaries or involved in some way with church planting projects The Planting and Development of Missionary Churches Ernest Findlay Scott, John Livingston Nevius, 2012-04-10 Hardcover reprint of the original 1899 edition beautifully bound in brown cloth covers featuring titles stamped in gold 8vo 6x9 No adjustments have been made to the original text giving readers the full antiquarian experience For quality purposes all text and images are printed as black and white This item is printed on demand Book Information Nevius John Livingston The Planting And Development of Missionary Churches Indiana Repressed Publishing LLC 2012 Original Publishing Nevius John Livingston The Planting And Development of Missionary Churches New York Foreign The Planting and Development of Missionary Churches John Livingston Mission Library 1899 Subject Missions Nevius, 1899 The Planting and Development of Missionary Churches John Livingston Nevius, 1958 The Planting and Development of Missionary Churches John L. their faith in terms of prayer and worship Peter Paul and James were church planters. The need to plant churches cannot be over emphasized Many souls have turned to Christ because someone preached to them I have planted churches and preaching is what I do I am the lead pastor in Firebrand Assembly of God in Sugar Land Texas a church I planted in 2007 A Bible school has been established in the church and by Gods grace it is a privilege to be a teacher in the theological seminary We established a study center for Global University and ministers of God are being trained in the study center Presbyterian Mission Enterprise Mark J. Englund-Krieger, 2015-02-06 American Presbyterians have a remarkable heritage of foreign mission work While today the mission and ministry of the Presbyterian Church and all of mainline Protestantism is in a time of reformation and deep change it is vital to remember this heritage of world mission The Presbyterian Mission Enterprise tells this story by highlighting significant mission leaders through the ages Our story includes Francis Makemie a colonial era missionary pastor and church planter who gathered with colleagues to form the first Presbytery in 1706 Tough old school Presbyterians like Ashbel Green insisted on a distinctive Presbyterian mission effort and Presbyterians were among those who heard the call exemplified by William Carey to take the gospel to the whole world This vision beckoned Walter Lowrie into leadership and Presbyterians joined the great missionary movement Robert Speer was a driving force behind this growing movement negotiating a moderate path through bitter conflicts After the traumas of World War II John Coventry Smith worked to reconfigure and redirect the mission enterprise Now in an era marked by fragmentation and realignment leaders like Clifton Kirkpatrick and Hunter Farrell work to continue the Presbyterian mission enterprise as a vital piece of the way forward Our heritage guides our future
