Republic of Women Carol Pal, 2012-06-07 Republic of Women recaptures a lost chapter in the narrative of intellectual history It tells the story of a transnational network of female scholars who were active members of the seventeenth century republic of letters and demonstrates that this intellectual commonwealth was a much more eclectic and diverse assemblage than has been assumed These seven scholars Anna Maria van Schurman Princess Elisabeth of Bohemia Marie de Gournay Marie du Moulin Dorothy Moore Bathsua Makin and Katherine Jones Lady Ranelagh were philosophers schoolteachers reformers and mathematicians They hailed from England Ireland Germany France and the Netherlands and together with their male colleagues men like Descartes Huygens Hartlib and Montaigne they represented the spectrum of contemporary approaches to science faith politics and the advancement of learning Carol Pal uses their collective biography to reconfigure the intellectual biography of early modern Europe offering a new expanded analysis of the seventeenth century community of ideas

The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship Alison Kay, 2012-08-21

The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship explores the relationship between home household headship and enterprise in Victorian London. It examines the notions of duty, honor, and suitability in how women's ventures are represented by themselves and others and engages in a comparison of the interpretation of historical female entrepreneurship by contemporaries and historians in the UK, Europe, and America. It argues that just as women in business have often been hidden by men, they have often also been hidden by the home and the conceptualization of separate spheres of public and private agency and of the entrepreneur. Drawing on contextual evidence from 1747 to 1880, including fire insurance records, directories, trade cards, newspapers, memoirs, the census, and extensive record linkage, this study concentrates on the early to mid-Victorian period when ideals about gender roles and appropriate work for women were vigorously debated. Alison Kay offers new insight into the motivations of the Victorian women who opted to pursue enterprises of their own. By engaging in empirical comparisons with men's business, it also reveals similarities and differences with the small to medium-sized ventures of male business proprietors. The link between home and enterprise is then further excavated by detailed record linkage revealing the households and domestic circumstances and responsibilities of female proprietors. Using both discourse and data to connect enterprise proprietor and household, The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship provides a multi-dimensional picture of the Victorian female proprietor and moves beyond the stereotypes. It argues that active business did not exclude women, although careful representation was vital, and this has obscured the similarities of their businesses with those of many male business proprietors.
