

The Road by Cormac Mccarthy

This passage is The Road by Cormac McCarthy and the main theme of the text and novel in a whole is survival and relicense. It starts with the father and son who are living on the road and are really poor also have nothing but a shopping cart full of supplies as well as one backpack each just in case they had to leave the cart. In the beginning, they are trying to find out where to travel next since they know that they will not be able to survive their another winter, as a result the father decides to go down south since there is a much warmer climate. As the boy and his father travel on the road coast, they have to really scavenge for food and materials that will help them survive in the cold. The only thing that keeps them both alive is a pistol with one bullet inside it, their food, supplies, and most importantly each other.

In this passage, McCarthy intentionally uses the man and boy as a reference of what being poor is like and not being in the supreme class. McCarthy shows this by having the father as well as the boy survive on minimum material everyday. Where McCarthy allows the reader to understand that there is no word to describe the poor within this novel instead he wanted the reader to understand that these people are poor themselves,. The author emphasizes that not everyone is supreme, as well as powerful and that there are people in this world who are fighting to survive each and every single day . The man as well as the boy are ultimately the representation of values and survival within society.

The main argument of this passage is emphasized by McCarthy choice of words within the novel, this can be analyzed in this quote "You think were going to die, don't you?" (McCarthy 2011 The Road 100)

Literary & Critical Quotes Dr. Hiren Trivedi, 2023-02-14 The book includes literary and critical quotations from the English literary tradition. It focuses on the views and beliefs of great poets, novelists, dramatists, and critics on literature and literary trends. The book has been divided into two sections: the first is of literary quotes and the second is of critical quotes. The first section comprises the lines and stanzas of great poets, essayists, novelists, and dramatists. The second section focuses on the critics' views on various aspects of literature and literary theories. It will be a rich source of knowledge for the students, teachers, and academicians.

Environmentalism in the Realm of Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature Chris Baratta, 2011-11-15 The collection of essays titled Environmentalism in the Realm of Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature discusses the environmental and ecocritical themes found in works of science fiction and fantasy literature. It focuses on an analysis of important literary works in these genres to yield an understanding of how they address the environmental issues we are facing today. Organized into four sections titled Industrial Dilemmas, The Natural World, Community and the Self, and Materialism, Capitalism, and Environmentalism and Dystopian Futures, the essays included also investigate the solutions that these works present to ensure the sustainability of our natural world and in turn the sustainability of humanity. This collection will appeal to a broad range of scholars including those who focus their studies on one of or all of the following fields: Ecocriticism, Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature, and Environmentalism in Literature. The essays investigate the myriad ways that science fiction and fantasy literature address environmental concerns with a focus on the detrimental effects on humanity on society of environmental destruction. With topics ranging from the dangers of industrial progress to the connection between environmental degradation and the destruction of the individual to environmental dangers posed by capitalistic societies to ignored warnings of ecological crises, the essays each tactfully analyze the relationship between the environmental themes in literature and how readers and scholars can learn from the irresponsible treatment of the environment while also considering solutions to this crisis that are found in science fiction and fantasy literature.

A Cormac McCarthy Companion Edwin T. Arnold, Dianne C. Luce, 2001-10-03 The first book to examine McCarthy's three masterpiece novels as a cohesive whole.

The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism Greg Garrard, 2014 The Oxford Handbook of Ecocriticism provides a broad survey of the longstanding relationship between literature and the environment. The moment for such an offering is opportune in many respects: multiple environmental crises are increasingly inescapable at both transnational and local levels; the role of the humanities in addition to technology and politics is increasingly recognized as central for exploring and finding solutions; and the subject of ecocriticism has reached a kind of critical mass both within its Anglo-American heartlands and beyond. From its origins in the study of American Nature Writing and British Romanticism, ecocriticism has developed along numerous theoretical, historical, cultural, and geographical axes: the most contemporary and exciting of which will be represented in the Handbook The contributors include eminent founders of the field including Cheryll Glotfelty and Jonathan Bate a number of key second wave ecocritics and the best up and coming scholars Topics covered include Green Shakespeare the Bard's subversive uses of the pastoral John Clare's sacred relationship with the land Thoreau's profound political passion the natural landscape as symbol of postcolonial resistance in works by Lessing Naipaul and Coetzee the relation between feminism and environmentalism language and the concept of biosemiotics and concerns over pollution and toxicity in films like Erin Brockovitch Michael Clayton and Al Gore's An Inconvenient Truth

Cormac McCarthy David N. Cremean, 2013 A great starting point for students seeking an introduction to McCarthy and the critical discussions surrounding his work In just the last two decades Cormac McCarthy has ascended terrain as sheer as any depicted in his fiction from an award winning writer's writer with a cult following who had never sold more than a few thousand copies of his first five published novels he rose to the top of best seller lists became a popular commodity for Hollywood adaptations and has gained a reputation as one of the authors who best represent that certain something that is our American culture Edited by David Cremean Associate Professor of English at Black Hills State University and an editor for The Cormac McCarthy Journal this volume in the Critical Insights series presents a variety of new essays on the American writer For readers who are studying McCarthy for the first time a biographical sketch relates the details of his life and four essays survey the critical reception of McCarthy's work explore its cultural and historical contexts situate McCarthy among his contemporaries and review key themes in his work Readers seeking a deeper understanding of the writer can then move on to other essays that explore topics like McCarthy's symbolism his portrayals of religion of mysticism and of violence the question of the division between a Western and a Southern novel and McCarthy's depiction of character as he portrays individuals caught up in situations for which they never mind society often have no good solution Works discussed include The Orchard Keeper The Crossing No Country for Old Men Blood Meridian All The Pretty Horses and The Road Rounding out the volume are a chronology of McCarthy's life and a list of his principle publications as well as a bibliography for readers seeking to study this fascinating author in greater depth Each essay is 2 500 to 5 000 words in length and all essays conclude with a list of Works Cited along with endnotes Finally the volume's appendixes offer a section of useful reference resources

Writing America into the Twenty-First Century Elizabeth Boyle, Anne-Marie Evans, 2010-04-16 Writing America into the Twenty First Century Essays on the American Novel seeks to explore an exciting period in American literary scholarship Concentrating on novels written after 1990 and through to the new millennium and to the present day this collection presents a refreshing and much needed analysis of recent American fiction Representing the work of established scholars and emerging critical voices the essays interrogate a range of fiction including works by Philip Roth Jeffrey Eugenides Don DeLillo Thomas Pynchon and Cormac McCarthy Accessible to students scholars and the interested reader this invigorating collection navigates the works of several key male American authors of the last twenty years and in so doing offers a new way of examining the American novel This volume's strength lies in its careful academic focus on recent American fiction and seeks to reacquaint the reader with well known authors and introduce them to new literary voices such as Christopher John Farley Anthony Giardina and Daniel Suarez The collection is organised into four large topic areas Youth and Age War and Crime Culture and Spaces and Patterns Each essay deals with its own particular subject and author but the full impact of each section on the concept of writing the American novel into the present day can only really be understood when read in conjunction with the others Writing America a companion volume to Reading America New Perspectives on the American Novel 2008 would be a valuable asset to any university or branch library The volume will also attract strong interest from established academics especially those researching the fields of literature critical theory cultural history and politics

The Cultural Life of Catastrophes and Crises Carsten Meiner, Kristin Veel, 2012-10-30 Catastrophes and crises are exceptions They are disruptions of order In various ways and to different degrees they change and subvert what we regard as normal They may occur on a personal level in the form of traumatic or stressful situations on a social level in the form of unstable political financial or religious situations or on a global level in the form of environmental states of emergency The main assumption in this book is that in contrast to the directness of any given catastrophe and its obvious physical economical and psychological consequences our understanding of catastrophes and crises is shaped by our cultural imagination No matter in which eruptive and traumatizing form we encounter them our collective repertoire of symbolic forms historical sensibilities modes of representation and patterns of imagination determine how we identify analyze and deal with catastrophes and crises This book presents a series of articles investigating how we address and interpret catastrophes and crises in film literature art and theory ranging from Voltaire's eighteenth century Europe haunted by revolutions and earthquakes to the 1994 genocide in Rwanda to the bleak prophetic landscapes of Cormac McCarthy

Cormac McCarthy's "The Road".

Social Interactions and Social Relations Sebastian Simbeck, 2018-11-19 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Literature Works grade 3.3 University of Paderborn Institut für Anglistik und Amerikanistik course It's the end of the world as we know it The Apocalypse and other End of the World Narratives language English abstract In this essay I'd like to take a look at social interactions of individuals who find themselves in a world where known values beliefs and rules seem to be invalid and where the individual survival seems to be the only aim to strive for But is survival the only need of people The Road with its cold bitter and ashen world where ethics and morale are lost where society as we know it is completely absent is a good basis for this research Maybe you'll be good at this I doubt it but who knows The one thing I can tell you is that you won't survive for yourself I know because I would never have come this far A person who had no one would be well advised to cobble together some passable ghost Breathe it into being and coax it along with words of love Offer it each phantom crumb and shield it from harm with your body McCarthy The Road Action is rational in so far as it pursues ends possible within the conditions of the situation and by means which among those available to the actor are intrinsically best adapted to the end for reasons Parsons 1937 These two epigraphs the first from Cormac McCarthy's The Road and the second from Parsons Structure of Social Action give us a slight hint about the importance of social relations and interactions and their outcomes As a consumer of this kind of post apocalyptic media you're thrown into these settings by either waking up from a dream or by regaining consciousness The setting and the new world order are already fixed Either people try to survive for their own while searching and hoping for others in order to have a higher chance of surviving or they are already a part of a community which fights against others in order to survive In both cases on the other hand those communities already do exist and in both cases it's always a question of the good against the bad While dealing with post apocalyptic media several questions came to my mind How came those communities and groupings and into being Which role do social interactions and social relations play in order to form a new kind of social system's after the previous known world order got destroyed by an apocalyptic event Social sciences usually deal with the reasons of social interactions and relations But they depend on existent fixed social values rules laws morale and religious believes since those aspects influence the actions of each and every individual
