Energy Transfer Nucleic Acid Probes Vladimir V. Didenko, 2008-02-04 Fluorescent nucleic acid probes which use energy transfer include such constructs as molecular beacons molecular break lights Scorpion primers TaqMan probes and others These probes signal detection of their targets by changing either the intensity or the color of their fluorescence Not surprisingly these luminous multicolored probes carry more flashy names than their counterparts in the other fields of molecular biology In recent years fluor cent probes and assays which make use of energy transfer have multiplied at a high rate and have found numerous applications However in spite of this explosive growth in the field there are no manuals summarizing different p tocols and fluorescent probe designs In view of this the main objective of Fluorescent Energy Transfer Nucleic Acid Probes Designs and Protocols is to provide such a collection Oligonucleotides with one or several chromophore tags can form fluor cent probes capable of energy transfer Energy transport within the probe can occur via the resonance energy transfer mechanism also called F rster tra fer or by non F rster transfer mechanisms Although the probes using F rster transfer were developed and used first the later non F rster based probes such as molecular beacons now represent an attractive and widely used option The term fluorescent energy transfer probes in the title of this book covers both F rster based fluorescence resonance energy transfer FRET probes and probes using non FRET mechanisms Energy transfer probes serve as molecule size sensors changing their fluorescence upon detection of various DNA reactions Carbon Allotropes:
