Walsh, 2019-01-10 Research shows that the importance of patient reported outcomes improved decision support and care coordination is growing rapidly as new payment models transform healthcare delivery This has led to the use of new measures and communication techniques including shared decision making and motivational interviewing Using patient reported outcomes at the point of service helps providers identify what matters most to the patient in front of them now Describing treatment options and deciphering a patient s preferences effectively is a process which has been likened to arriving at a diagnosis Providers make a medical diagnosis by discerning a patient s primary complaints past history exam findings and test results A preference diagnosis can be thought of similarly Providers work with their patients to identify what matters most to them discuss the risks and benefits of the available treatment options and support the patient as needed through the decision making process Once informed of their options patients frequently chose treatments that require modifying their habits Motivational interviewing helps patients and providers understand what matters most now and design care plans that provide appropriate support While many healthcare providers and leaders may be familiar with patient reported outcomes from research articles and have heard of shared decision making and motivational interviewing few have experience using them Fewer still understand how each relates to the other This book helps leaders and healthcare providers better understand how to use patient reported data to their advantage at the point of service The book provides the background for developing shared knowledge and shared language along with extensive examples of dialogue between providers and patients In addition the book contains personal interviews of subject matter experts who have significant experience using these measures The result is a comprehensive understanding of how these measures and techniques can help providers organizations and patients navigate this modern healthcare management opportunity Can We Measure

What Matters Most? J. M. Beach, 2021-09-30 This book examines the idea of educational accountability which has become a new secular gospel But do accountability policies actually make schools better Do business management theories and practices make organizations more effective What if the most widely used management theories and assessment tools don't work What if educational accountability tools don't actually measure what they're supposed to What if accountability data isn't valid or worse what if it's meaningless What if administrators don't know how to use accountability tools or correctly analyze the problematic data these tools produce What if we can't measure let alone accurately assess what matters most with teaching or student learning How is a business model of economic efficiency supposed to increase the competing and perhaps mutually exclusive ends of schooling such as human development student learning personal satisfaction social mobility and economic growth What if students don't learn much in schools What if schools were never designed to produce student learning This book will answer these questions with a wide interdisciplinary range of the latest scientific research
