Objectives For Fall Prevention:

Casebook of Traumatic Injury Prevention Richard Volpe, 2019-12-30 This casebook profiles exceptional traumatic injury prevention programs from all over the globe. Its detailed description and analysis employ a multi stage process of identifying, evaluating and casing effective prevention practices. The case studies reflect how legislative and regulatory information impact prevention efforts and provide insight into how national centers for injury prevention and control inform prevention practices on countrywide levels. The authors work with outcome based research criteria to select and develop their comprehensive and contextually aware profiles of the programs. All included case studies follow the BRIO approach: Background, Resources, Implementation and Outcome, a model designed to provide a consistent way of describing programs that have been evaluated and found to be exceptional practices. The scope of the Casebook ranges across: The challenge of traumatic injury prevention, Sports and recreation related traumatic injury prevention, Fall related traumatic injury prevention, Road traffic related traumatic injury prevention, Traumatic injury prevention within complex systems. In its recognition of traumatic injury prevention across the lifespan as a critical and complex public health challenge, the Casebook of Traumatic Injury Prevention promises to be an influential and authoritative resource for professionals and students in public health, safety, injury prevention, medicine, psychology, sociology, nursing and engineering. Government agencies and institutions such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, CDC, public health departments and safety associations also would find the Casebook relevant to their work.

Engineering Metrology for Pedestrian Falls Prevention and Protection In-Ju Kim, 2022-03-25 This book explains how to improve the validity, reliability and repeatability of slip resistance assessments amongst a range of shoes, floors and environments from an engineering metrology viewpoint, covering theoretical and experimental aspects of slip resistance, mechanics and mechanisms. Pedestrian falls resulting from slips or trips are one of the foremost causes of fatal and non fatal injuries that limit people's functionality. There have been prolonged efforts globally to identify and understand their main causes and reduce their frequency and severity. This book deals with large volumes of information on tribological characteristics such as friction and wear behaviours of the shoes and floors and their interactive impacts on slip resistance performances. Readers are introduced to theoretical concepts and models and collected evidence on slip resistance properties amongst a range of shoe and floor types and materials under various ambulatory settings. These approaches can be used to develop secure design strategies against fall incidents and provide a great step forward to build safer shoes, floors and walking working environments for industries and communities around the world. The book includes many case studies.

Healthy People 2010 Objectives, 1998 Integrated Care and Fall Prevention in Active and Healthy Aging Eklund, Patrik, 2021-06-25 In today's world, healthy aging and a fulfilling lifestyle are important to older members of society, with many opting to remain as independent and mobile as possible for as long as possible. However, elderly individuals tend to have a variety of functional limitations that can increase the likelihood of debilitating falls and injuries Assessments of functionality are very often only performed following an accident which implies a hindsight bias because results do not necessarily reflect pre accidental performance capacities Furthermore these belated measures do little to reduce the likelihood of new falls As such it is imperative that personalized preventative approaches are taken to prevent falls Integrated Care and Fall Prevention in Active and Healthy Aging contains state of the art research and practices related to integrated care fall prevention and aging throughout areas ranging from medical to social aspects of care health economy standards pathways and information scopes practices and guidelines technology etc Covering topics such as active care and healthy aging it is ideal for doctors gerontologists nursing home and long care facility staff scientists researchers students academicians and practitioners working in care pathways involving good practices of fall prevention in home care and community care settings
