The Tide Rises, the Tide Falls

by WALTER WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW

The tide rises, the tide falls,
The twilight darkens, the curlew calls;
Along the sea-sands damp and brown
The traveler hastens toward the town,
And the tide rises, the tide falls,
Darkness is settled on roofs and walls,
But the sea, the sea in the darkness calls;
The little waves, with their white, foam-tips,
Edge the black-rocks in the gull's calls,
And the tide rises, the tide falls,
The morning breaks; the woods and their wolds
Sweep and sweep, on the border of wolds;
The day rises, the day rises,
Reveries the traveler on the road,
And the tide rises, the tide falls.

languages deal with learning tasks and the social life of the class when using these languages alongside English as a lingua franca. It discusses implications for teachers from balancing student needs in lesson planning and instruction to classroom management where the language use of one individual or group can create challenges of understanding participation or deficit identity positionings for another. The book argues that students must not only be allowed to flex their whole language repertoires to learn and communicate but also be aware of how to build bridges across differences in individual repertoires. It offers suggestions for teachers to consider within their own contexts highlighting the need for teacher autonomy to cultivate the classroom community's critical language awareness and create conducive environments for learning. This book will appeal to postgraduate students, researchers and academics working in the fields of sociolinguistics and linguistic ethnography as well as pre-service and in-service teachers in linguistically diverse secondary school contexts.
