out I began teaching in a British style boys boarding school all boys all boarding a trial by fire if ever there was one I was fresh out of university with a good MA but virtually no teaching experience and only the dimmest idea of why I was joining the profession I had been told by someone I trusted that I had a natural talent for teaching felt faint stirrings of vocation and wanted to give something back after a long and self indulgent education Beyond that I had no idea of what I was getting into or why It was a strange Darwinian world of bad food cold showers harsh discipline and cross country runs with other vestiges of British public school tradition including bread pudding corporal punishment and daily chapel Paradoxically despite the strict discipline and institutional formality the masters were universally referred to as Sir and the boys addressed by surname a great fondness grew between staff and students We were at the very least honorable enemies reminiscent of Tom Brown s School Days at best a boisterous family marooned together more like Swiss Family Robinson Something hilarious happened every day The boys were irrepressible despite our best efforts and the charged insular atmosphere of the school somehow produced the most extravagantly colorful personalities I was always amazed at how the boys bounced back after a frozen route march or an exhausting exam week it was the masters who showed the strain Partly we lacked the resiliency of youth We were older in our bones and our sinews had lost their elasticity Partly we followed an unrelenting schedule since in addition to our teaching duties including a half day on Saturday we were required to patrol the dorms supervise study hall and lead all weather outdoor adventures Sixty hour workweeks were standard rising to eighty hours during peak periods But we also suffered the natural consequences of an immutable law and a professional handicap which I will explain
