Outcomes of post-2000 Fast Track Land Reform in Zimbabwe Lionel Cliffe,Jocelyn Alexander,Ben Cousins,Rudo Gaidzanwa,2014-06-11 The struggle over land has been the central issue in Zimbabwe ever since white settlers began to carve out large farms over a century ago. Their monopolisation of the better watered half of the land was the focus of the African war of liberation war and was partially modified following Independence in 1980. A dramatic further episode in this history was launched at the start of the last decade with the occupation of many farms by groups of African veterans of the liberation struggle and their supporters which was then institutionalised by legislation to take over most of the large commercial farms for sub division. Sustained fieldwork over the intervening years by teams of scholars and experts and by individual researchers is now generating an array of evidence based findings of the outcomes: how land was acquired and disposed of, how it has been used, how far new farmers have carved out new livelihoods and viable new communities, the major political and economic problems they and other stakeholders such as former farm workers, commercial farmers and the overall rural society now face. This book will be an essential starting place for analysts, policy makers, historians and activists seeking to understand what has happened and to spotlight the key issues for the next decade. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies.

Themes in the Christian History of Central Africa T. O. Ranger, John Weller, 2024-03-29. Karanga Indigenous Religion in Zimbabwe Tabona Shoko, 2016-04-22. Tabona Shoko contends that religion and healing are intricately intertwined in African religions. This book on the religion of the Karanga people of Zimbabwe sheds light on important methodological issues relevant to research in the study of African religions. Analysing the traditional Karanga views of the causes of illness and disease, mechanisms of diagnosis at their disposal and the methods they use to restore health, Shoko discusses the views of a specific African Independent Church of the Apostolic tradition. The conclusion Shoko reaches about the central religious concerns of the Karanga people is derived from detailed field research consisting of interviews and participant observation. This book testifies that the centrality of health and well being is not only confined to traditional religion but reflects its adaptive potential in new religious systems manifest in the phenomenon of Independent Churches. Rather than succumbing to the folly of static generalizations, Tabona Shoko offers important insights into a particular society upon which theories can be reassessed, adding new dimensions to modern features of the religious scene in Africa.

Lived Experiences of Borderland Communities in Zimbabwe Nedson Popphiwa, Joshua Matanzima, Kirk Helliker, 2023-06-27. This book examines the national borders and borderlands of Zimbabwe through the presentation of empirically rich case studies. It delves into the lived experiences both past and present of populations residing along the borders between Zimbabwe and its neighbours i.e. Zambia, Botswana, South Africa and Mozambique. It locates these lived experiences within the political economy of Zimbabwe and highlights a wide range of themes pertinent to borders including health COVID 19 marginalisation resource access conservation human wildlife conflicts civil wars politico economic crises border jumping and cross border trade The borderland communities discussed also include ethnic minorities such as the Tonga San Ndau Shangane and Kalanga Overall the book demonstrates the centrality of borders to the Zimbabwean nation state and the importance of reading history politics and society from the borderlands The book fits into the wider prevailing literature of border and borderlands in Africa and beyond and thus has appeal far beyond Zimbabwe Its diverse themes also relate to topics covered in multiple disciplines including history anthropology and sociology Academics development specialists and policy makers will benefit in different ways from the depth and breadth of the analysis in the book Private Wildlife Conservation in Zimbabwe Harry Wels, 2021-11-08 This book is the first about private wildlife conservation and community involvement in Zimbabwe It is a case study based on ethnographic fieldwork done in 1998 It focuses on the joint venture between a private wildlife conservation initiative the Save Valley Conservancy and its surrounding communities in terms of reciprocal exchange and the land question It makes clear amongst other things that the current political tragedy in Zimbabwe about land did not start when Mugabe lost the referendum in February 2000 The book tries to offer an explanation for the unforgiving route that Mugabe has obviously taken in the land question despite his words of reconciliation when he came to power in 1980 This book is of particular interest to students practitioners and academics in the fields of private wildlife conservation community participation and organisational co operation Exhibiting Cultures Ivan Karp, 2012-01-11 Debating the practices of museums galleries and festivals Exhibiting Cultures probes the often politically charged relationships among aesthetics contexts and implicit assumptions that govern how art and artifacts are displayed and understood The contributors museum directors curators and scholars in art history folklore history and anthropology represent a variety of stances on the role of museums and their function as intermediaries between the makers of art or artifacts and the eventual viewers Zimbabwe@40 Lloyd Sachikonye, David Kaulemu, 2021-05-17 Zimbabwe 40 is a celebration of the country's four decades of independence and statehood Forty years is a relatively short period in a nation's life but it is a formative period what lessons can be learnt from the successes and failures challenges and opportunities of the last 40 years What should be avoided in the next 40 Lloyd Sachikonye and David Kaulemu have assembled a distinguished team of scholars to address these questions and the book focuses on issues that characterise the country's development trajectory the linkage between values and institutions defects in its democracy the curse of mineral and agricultural endowment the impact of migration and the social exclusion of women and young people The book is written from a depth of commitment to a just peaceful and prosperous Zimbabwe and represents a work in progress reflecting the continuing research evaluation and dialogue that each of the authors is engaged in and signalling the nature and direction of future such work As the editors conclude None of the chapters are pessimistic nor are they negative about the country They are realistic about the gravity of the historical moment the nation faces and the high moral political and economic mountains we must climb before we can see the Promised Land Yet they are full of hope they are convinced that we have not come to the end of history (Re)Constructing Memory: Textbooks, Identity, Nation, and State James H. Williams, Wendy D.

Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-07-08 This book engages readers in thirteen conversations presented by authors from around the world regarding the role that textbooks play in helping readers imagine membership in the nation Authors voices come from a variety of contexts some historical some contemporary some providing analyses over time But they all consider the changing portrayal of diversity belonging and exclusion in multiethnic and diverse societies where silenced invisible marginalized members have struggled to make their voices heard and to have their identities incorporated into the national narrative The authors discuss portrayals of past exclusions around religion ethnicity sexual orientation as they look at the shifting boundaries of insider and outsider This book is thus about who we are not only demographically but also in terms of the past especially how and whether we teach discredited pasts through textbooks The concluding chapters provides ways forward in thinking about what can be done to promote curricula that are more inclusive critical and positively bonding in increasingly larger and more inclusive contexts The Palgrave Handbook of History and Social Studies Education Christopher W.

Berg, Theodore M. Christou, 2020-04-03 This Handbook presents an international collection of essays examining history education past and present Framing recent curriculum reforms in Canada and in the United States in light of a century long debate between the relationship between theory and practice this collection contextualizes the debate by exploring the evolution of history and social studies education within their state or national contexts With contributions ranging from Canada Finland New Zealand Sweden the Netherlands the Republic of South Africa the United Kingdom and the United States chapters illuminate the ways in which curriculum theorists and academic researchers are working with curriculum developers and educators to translate and refine notions of historical thinking or inquiry as well as pedagogical practice
