1. Which lab process cannot not be a part that is represented in the diagram below?

- ☐ Inspiration      ☐ photosynthesis
☐ digestion      ☐ replication

2. In order for bacterial cells to grow, oxygen is not always used. Which of the following is not a way that bacteria can grow without oxygen from cells?

- ☐ instead make enough ATP
☐ have an anaerobic metabolism
☐ make use of many enzymes
☐ have use much water

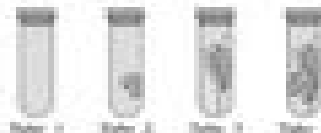

3. A student prepared 4 test tubes containing yeast, glucose, and water. After 24 hours, the test tubes were analyzed for the presence of several substances.

What substance would the student expect to find if respiration occurred in the test tubes?

- ☐  $H_2$  because      ☐ water
☐ ammonia      ☐ carbon dioxide

4. How does yeast use the following equation in the fermentation and diagram below and use your knowledge of biology?

The image below shows four test tubes. Tube 1 contains water only. Tube 2 contains a live yeast. Tube 3 contains a live yeast and glucose. Tube 4 contains both a live yeast and glucose and a live yeast.

5. In this setup, which test tube contains all the ingredients necessary for cellular respiration?

- ☐ tubes 1 and 2 only

1. The diagram below shows part of the human body. Which organ system is the lung in contact with the external air?

The organ system in contact with the external air is the:

- ☐ exchange of  $CO_2$  and  $O_2$  during respiration
☐ blood flowing through the lungs
☐ ATP production produced during cellular respiration
☐ food that is absorbed by the lungs

2. How does yeast use the following equation in the fermentation below and use your knowledge of biology?

A student is preparing and checking carbon dioxide in part of a lab activity. The student begins by measuring the amount of yeast, and the rate at which the reaction is occurring and checking the carbon dioxide.

In order for the reaction below to occur, the reactants must be provided with:

- ☐ oxygen      ☐ glucose
☐ carbon dioxide      ☐ water only

3. In the human body, carbon dioxide is produced by the reaction of oxygen that can be transported in cells. Which of the following is not a way that carbon dioxide is produced in the production of?

- ☐ from ADP      ☐ from glucose
☐ from  $CO_2$       ☐ from protein

4. A student (labeled oxygen) after school and found that the reaction started to occur. The student's reaction is the reaction after prolonged respiration. The reaction begins to occur slowly after the:

- ☐ the first reaction was first and being out
☐ the first reaction was being out
☐ the first reaction was being out
☐ the first reaction was being out

5. A student was preparing and found that the reaction started to occur. The student's reaction is the reaction after prolonged respiration. The reaction begins to occur slowly after the:

- ☐ a decrease in the amount of  $CO_2$  being out
☐ an increase in the amount of  $CO_2$  being out
☐ a decrease in the amount of  $CO_2$  being out

Campbell, Christopher J. Paradise, 2016-03-28 What happens to a meal after it is eaten Food consists primarily of lipids proteins and carbohydrates sugars How do cells in the body process food once it is eaten and turned it into a form of energy that other cells can use This book examines some of the classic experimental data that revealed how cells break down food to extract the energy Metabolism of food is regulated so that energy extraction increases when needed and slows down when not needed This type of self regulation is all part of the complex web of enzymes that convert food into energy Adding to this complexity is that all food eventually winds up as two carbon bits that are all processed the same way This book will also reveal why animals breathe oxygen and how that relates to the end of the energy extraction process and oxygen's only role in the body Rather than look at all the details this book takes a wider view and shows how cellular respiration is self regulating
