This page will describe the steps to perform the basic steps of using VLC

Understanding the VLC interface (1.0.5)

Taskbar Icon

When you start the VLC media player, the application appears on the screen and a small icon appears in your taskbar [Found next to your system clock on Windows]. Clicking once on the icon in the taskbar will hide the VLC media player, and clicking on it again will show it again. Hiding the icon does not close the application which continues to run in the background.

Note: These screenshots are taken from the MS Windows XP version. On other systems, they might appear slightly different.

The main interface of VLC media player looks as shown in the following figure.

If you close the main interface by using the close button in the window, you will be able to open the VLC media player again by using the icon in the taskbar.

By simply right-clicking on this icon brings up a list of things to do:
