We Belong Here Shani Adia Evans, 2025-01-16 A landmark study that shows how Black residents experience and respond to the rapid transformation of historically Black places Although Portland Oregon is sometimes called America's whitest city Black residents who grew up in the neighborhoods of northeast Portland have made it their own The district of Albina also called Northeast was their haven and a hub of Black community life But between 1990 and 2010 Albina changed dramatically it became majority white In We Belong Here sociologist Shani Adia Evans offers an intimate look at gentrification from the inside documenting the reactions of the residents of Albina as the racial demographics of their neighborhood shift As white culture becomes centered in Northeast Black residents recount their experiences with what Evans refers to as white watching the questioning look on the faces of white people they encounter which conveys an exclusionary message What are you doing here This Evans shows is a prime example of what she calls white spacemaking the establishment of white space spaces in which whiteness is assumed to be the norm in formerly non white neighborhoods While gentrification typically describes socioeconomic changes that may have racial implications white spacemaking allows us to understand racism as a primary mechanism of neighborhood change We Belong Here illuminates why gentrification and white spacemaking should be examined as intersecting but not interchangeable processes of neighborhood change

The Complacent Class Tyler Cowen, 2017-02-28 A Wall Street Journal and Washington Post Bestseller Tyler Cowen's blog Marginal Revolution is the first thing I read every morning And his brilliant new book The Complacent Class has been on my nightstand after I devoured it in one sitting I am at round the clock Cowen saturation right now Malcolm Gladwell Since Alexis de Tocqueville restlessness has been accepted as a signature American trait Our willingness to move take risks and adapt to change have produced a dynamic economy and a tradition of innovation from Ben Franklin to Steve Jobs The problem according to legendary blogger economist and best selling author Tyler Cowen is that Americans today have broken from this tradition we're working harder than ever to avoid change We're moving residences less marrying people more like ourselves and choosing our music and our mates based on algorithms that wall us off from anything that might be too new or too different Match.com matches us in love Spotify and Pandora match us in music Facebook matches us to just about everything else Of course this matching culture brings tremendous positives music we like partners who make us happy neighbors who want the same things We're more comfortable But according to

Cowen there are significant collateral downsides attending this comfort among them heightened inequality and segregation and decreased incentives to innovate and create The Complacent Class argues that this cannot go on forever We are postponing change due to our near sightedness and extreme desire for comfort but ultimately this will make change when it comes harder The forces unleashed by the Great Stagnation will eventually lead to a major fiscal and budgetary crisis impossibly expensive rentals for our most attractive cities worsening of residential segregation and a decline in our work ethic The only way to avoid this difficult future is for Americans to force themselves out of their comfortable slumber to embrace their restless tradition again Psychosocial Skills and School Systems in the 21st Century Anastasiya A

Land Acquisition and Resource Development in Contemporary India Shashi Ratnaker Singh,2021-04 Looks at the nuances of land and resource politics and summarizes the long standing land acquisition and mining debate

Yojana ,2014 Federal Register ,2013-06 Refugee Cities Sanaa Alimia,2022-09-13 Situated between the 1970s Soviet Union s invasion of Afghanistan and the post 2001 War on Terror

Refugee Cities tells the story of how global wars affect everyday life for Afghans who have been living as refugees in Pakistan. This book provides a necessary glimpse of what ordinary life looks like for a long term refugee population beyond the headlines of war terror or helpless suffering. It also increases our understanding of how cities rather than the nation are important sites of identity making for people of migrant origins. In Refugee Cities, Sanaa Alimnia reconstructs local microhistories to chronicle the lives of ordinary people living in low income neighborhoods in Peshawar and Karachi and the ways in which they have transformed the cities of which they are a part. In Pakistan formal citizenship is almost impossible for Afghans to access despite this Afghans have made new neighborhoods, expanded city boundaries, built cities through their labor in construction projects and created new urban identities and often they have done so alongside Pakistanis. Their struggles are a crucial neglected dimension of Pakistan's urban history. Yet given that the Afghan experience in Pakistan is profoundly shaped by geopolitics, the book also documents how in the War on Terror era many Afghans have been forced to leave Pakistan. This book then is also a documentation of the multiple displacements migrants are subject to and the increased normalization of deportation as a part of refugee management.

Mission IAS - Prelim & Main Exam, Trends, How to prepare, Toppers' Interviews, Strategies, Tips & Detailed Syllabus 3rd Edition Disha Experts, 2020-02-04 Creative Hubs in Question Rosalind Gill, Andy C. Pratt, Tarek E. Virani, 2019-03-23 Creative hubs have become a cornerstone of economic and cultural policy with only the barest amount of discussion or scrutiny. This volume offers the first interrogation of creative hubs with ground breaking critical writing from a combination of established scholars and new voices. Looking across multiple sites trans nationally and combining theoretical and empirical reflections it asks what are creative hubs, why do they matter and are they making the world a better place. Creative Hubs in Question discusses creative hubs in relation to debates about creative cities, co working spaces and workers co operatives. Featuring case studies from Argentina to the Netherlands and Nigeria to the UK, the contributions address how hubs are situated in relation to projects of equality and social justice and whether and in what ways they change the experiences of the creatives who work in them. Drawing on a range of disciplinary perspectives including sociology, geography, economics, media and communications, culture and creative industries, critical policy studies, gender studies, race and ethnicity and urban studies, this collection will be of interest to policy makers, academics, scholars, students and practitioners across these fields.
