Inclusive Education in South African Further and Higher Education Tsedisio Michael Makoelle, Cina P. Mosito, 2025-05-26 A historical overview of the evolution of inclusive education alongside the emergence of concepts such as equity and access highlighting how these ideas have evolved been enacted and practiced in the higher education institutions HEIs of South Africa since 2001 Resistance at the Edge of Empires Cameron A. Petrie, 2020-12-28 From 1985 to 2001 the collaborative research initiative known as the Bannu Archaeological Project conducted archaeological explorations and excavations in the Bannu region in what was then the North West Frontier Province NWFP of Pakistan now Khyber

Pakhtunkhwa This Project involves scholars from the Pakistan Heritage Society the British Museum the Institute of Archaeology UCL Bryn Mawr College and the University of Cambridge This is the third in a series of volumes that present the final reports of the exploration and excavations carried out by the Bannu Archaeological Project This volume presents the first synthesis of the archaeology of the historic periods in the Bannu region spanning the period when the first large scale empires expanded to the borders of South Asia up until the arrival of Islam in the subcontinent at the end of the first and beginning of the second millennium BC The Bannu region provides specific insight into early imperialism in South Asia as throughout this protracted period it was able to maintain a distinctive regional identity in the face of recurring phases of imperial expansion and integration Creative Tourism and Sustainable Territories Paula Remoaldo, Juliana Alves, Vitor Ribeiro, 2022-10-11 Creative Tourism and Sustainable Territories Insights from Southern Europe examines the growth and development of this emerging and fast developing area of tourism practice while assessing its impacts on sustainability and regional development Levels of Organic Life and the Human Helmuth Plessner, 2019-07-02 The most important work by a key figure in German thought Helmuth Plessner's Levels of Organic Life and the Human originally published in 1928 appears here for the first time in English accompanied by a substantial Introduction by J M Bernstein after having served for decades as an influence on thinkers as diverse as Merleau Ponty Peter Berger Habermas and the new naturalists The Levels as it has long been known draws on phenomenological biological and social scientific sources as part of a systematic account of nature life and human existence The book considers non living nature plants non human animals and human beings in turn as a sequence of increasingly complex modes of boundary dynamics simply put interactions between a thing's insides and surrounding world On Plessner's unique account living things are classed and analyzed by their positionality or orientation to and within an environment Life is thereby phenomenologically defined and its universal yet internally variable features such as metabolism reproduction and death are explained The approach provides a foundation not only for philosophical biology but philosophical anthropology as well According to Plessner's radical view the human form of life is excentric that is the relation between body and environment is something to which humans themselves are positioned and can take a position This excentric positionality enables human beings to take a stand outside the boundaries of their own body a possibility with significant implications for knowledge culture religion and technology Plessner studied zoology and philosophy with Hans Driesch in the 1910s before embarking on a highly productive philosophical career His work was initially obscured by the superficially similar views of Max Scheler and Martin Heidegger and by his forced exile during World War II Only in recent decades as scholarship has moved more squarely into engagement with issues like animality embodiment human dignity social theory the philosophy of technology and the philosophy of nature has the originality and depth of Plessner's vision been appreciated A powerful and sophisticated account of embodiment the Levels shows with reference both to science and to philosophy how life can be seen on its own terms to establish its own boundaries and how from the standpoint of life the human establishes itself in relation to the nonhuman As such the book is not merely a historical monument but a source for invigorating a range of vital current conversations around the animal posthumanism the material turn and the biology and sociology of cognition This modern philosophical classic long awaited in English translation is a key book both historically and for today s interest in understanding philosophy and social theory together with science without reducing the former to the latter STEM and Social Justice: Teaching and Learning in Diverse Settings Cheryl B. Leggon, Michael S. Gaines, 2017-06-06

This volume focuses on selected innovative programs designed to augment the science engineering engineering and mathematics STEM workforce through increasing and enhancing the participation of under represented groups The programs span the STEM career pathway primary secondary and tertiary education and professional development and socialization in the United States South Africa and New Zealand Similarities as well as differences between and among programs across nations will be systematically analyzed for lessons learned The conceptualization for this volume developed over the past several years during various international conferences starting in Havana Cuba in 2006 and continuing at meetings in Japan 2014 South Africa 2013 and 2015 and New Zealand 2015 Flocking Together: An

Indigenous Psychology Theory of Resilience in Southern Africa Liesel Ebersöhn, 2019-07-03 This book describes how those individuals who are often most marginalised in postcolonial societies draw on age old non western knowledge systems to adapt to the hardships characteristic of unequal societies in transformation It highlights robust indigenous pathways and resilience responses used by elders and young people in urban and rural settings in challenging Southern African settings South Africa Namibia Lesotho and Swaziland to explain an Indigenous Psychology theory Flocking rather than fighting fleeing freezing or fainting is explained as a default collectivist collaborative and pragmatic social innovation to provide communal care and support when resources are constrained and needs are par for the course Flocking is used to address amongst others climate change drought and energy use in particular lack of household income and securing livelihoods food and nutrition chronic disease specifically HIV AIDS and tuberculosis barriers to access services education healthcare social welfare support as well as leisure and wellbeing The book further deliberates whether the continued use of such an entrenched socio cultural response mollifies citizens and decision makers into accepting inequality or whether it could also be used to spark citizen agency and disrupt longstanding structural disparities Public Health, Public Health Education, and their Future Prospects Xuelei Ma, Hubing Shi, Yihui Du, Wenhao Cai, 2024-04-15 A number of studies have pointed out that currently medical schools may have failed to supply self directed lifelong learners and qualified healthcare workers Therefore in recent years the medical teaching modes have been consistently reformed The new generation of novel education modes such as Research Based Learning RBL Problem Based Learning PBL Team Based Learning TBL have the characteristics of universality interactivity and promptness which empower instructors and students to learn and grow together Moreover the reform of medical teaching modes has been significantly facilitated in the COVID19 era due to public s rising awareness of public health and more obviously pandemic prevention policies such as travel restrictions For instance many countries have launched remote teaching mode in order to provide consistent education service with high quality These novel teaching modes can provide amelioration to the traditional education modes and may lead the education system to another prosperity
