Moschkovich,2013-09-04 Efforts to improve mathematics education have led educators and researchers to not only study the nature of proficiency beliefs and practices in mathematics learning and teaching but also identify and assess possible influences on students and teachers proficiencies beliefs and practices in learning and teaching mathematics The complexity of these topics has fascinated researchers from various backgrounds including psychologists cognitive or learning scientists mathematicians and mathematics educators Among those researchers two scholars with a similar background Alan Schoenfeld in the United States and G nter T rner in Germany are internationally recognized for their contributions to these topics To celebrate their 65th birthdays in 2012 this book brought together many scholars to reflect on how their own work has built upon and continued Alan and G nter s work in mathematics education The book contains 17 chapters by 33 scholars from six different education systems This collection describes recent research and provides new insights into these topics of interest to mathematics educators researchers and graduate students who wish to learn about the trajectory and direction of research on these issues Mathematical Knowledge in Teaching Tim Rowland,Kenneth Ruthven,2011-01-06 The quality of primary and secondary school mathematics teaching is generally agreed to depend crucially on the subject related knowledge of the teacher However there is increasing recognition that effective teaching calls for distinctive forms of subject related knowledge and thinking Thus established ways of conceptualizing developing and assessing mathematical knowledge for teaching may be less than adequate These are important issues for policy and practice because of longstanding difficulties in recruiting teachers who are confident and conventionally well qualified in mathematics and because of rising concern that teaching of the subject has not adapted sufficiently The issues to be examined in Mathematical Knowledge in Teaching are of considerable significance in addressing global aspirations to raise standards of teaching and learning in mathematics by developing more effective approaches to characterizing assessing and developing mathematical knowledge for teaching
