The Culture of Child Care Kay E. Sanders, Alison Wishard Guerra, 2016 As societies are experiencing increasing levels of immigration from contexts outside of the Western industrialized world child care programs are experiencing simultaneously increasing diversity in enrollment A question that has been raised by early childhood advocates and practitioners is whether the former articulations regarding definitions of quality models of relationships and peer relations in the child care context are accurate and relevant within the increasing racial linguistic and ethnic diversity of the United States The Culture of Child Care provides a much needed integration of research pertaining to crucial aspects of early childhood development attachment in non familial contexts peer relations among ethnically and linguistically diverse children and the developmental importance of child care contexts during early childhood This volume highlights the interconnections between these three distinct bodies of research and crosses disciplinary boundaries by linking psychological and educational theories to the improvement of young children s development and experiences within child care The importance of cultural diversity in early childhood is widely acknowledged and discussed but up until now there has been little substantive work with a cultural focus on today s educational and early child care settings This innovative volume will be a unique resource for a wide range of early childhood professionals including basic and applied developmental researchers early childhood educators and advocates and policymakers

New Research on Early Childhood Education Arthur T. Waddell, Rachel M. McBride, 2008 Early Childhood Education spans the human life from birth to age 8 Infants and toddlers experience life more holistically than any other age group Social emotional cognitive language and physical lessons are not learned separately by very young children Adults who are most helpful to young children interact in ways that understand that the child is learning from the whole experience not just that part of the experience to which the adult gives attention Although early childhood education does not have to occur in the absence of the parent or primary caregiver this term is sometimes used to denote education by someone other than these the parent or primary caregiver Both research in the field and early childhood educators view the parents as an integral part of the early childhood education process Early childhood education takes many forms depending on the theoretical and educational beliefs of the educator or parent Other terms those are often used interchangeably with early childhood education are early childhood learning early care and early education Much of the first two years of life are spent in the creation of a child's first sense of self or the building of a first identity Because this is a crucial part of children's makeup how they first see themselves how they think they should function how they expect others to function in relation to them early care must ensure that in addition to carefully selected and trained caregivers links with family home culture and home language are a central part of program policy If care becomes a substitute for rather than a support of family children may develop a less than positive sense of who they are and where they come from because of their child care experience This book presents the latest research in this vital field
