

STATUE OF LIBERTY

The Statue of Liberty was gifted to the U.S. from the French. It was given in appreciation of the friendship during the American Revolution. Frédéric Auguste Bartholdi designed and built the statue in France. It took 10 years to build. Bartholdi named the statue Liberty Enlightening the World.

The statue was built in pieces—beginning with the torch, arm, and head. When the statue was complete, it was dismantled and shipped to the U.S. in 1885. It was packed in 214 crates. The statue arrived in the U.S. in 1886.

Bartholdi chose Bedloe's Island for the location of the statue. This way, immigrants entering America would see a symbol of hope, freedom, and liberty.

The pedestal represents the 13 colonies with 13 layers of granite. Lady Liberty's crown has seven spikes that represent the seven seas and seven continents. Her tablet is engraved with the Roman numerals of Independence Day. The torch on the statue signifies that light, or enlightenment, is the key to freedom.

The inscription on the pedestal says, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free."
