Precious Metal Peter H. Christensen, 2022-11-17 With its incorporation into architecture on a grand scale during the long nineteenth century steel forever changed the way we perceive and inhabit buildings In this book Peter H Christensen shows that even as architects and engineers were harnessing steel s incredible properties steel itself was busy transforming the natural world Precious Metal explores this quintessentially modernist material not for the heroic structural innovations it facilitated but for a deeper understanding of the role it played in the steady change of the earth Focusing on the formative years of the architectural steel economy and on the corporate history of German steel titans Krupp and Thyssen Christensen investigates the ecological interrelationship of artificial and natural habitats mediated by steel He traces steel through six distinct phases birth formation display dispersal construction and return By following the life of steel from the collection of raw minerals to the distribution and disposal of finished products Christensen challenges the traditional narrative that steel was simply the primary material responsible for architectural modernism Based on the premise that building materials are as much a part of the natural world as they are of a building this groundbreaking book rewrites an important chapter of architectural history It will be welcomed by specialists in architectural history nineteenth century studies environmental history German studies modernist studies and the Anthropocene

Global Objects Edward S. Cooke, 2022-09-13 A bold reorientation of art history that bridges the divide between fine art and material culture through an examination of objects and their uses Art history is often viewed through cultural or national lenses that define some works as fine art while relegating others to the category of craft Global Objects points the way to an interconnected history of art examining a broad array of functional aesthetic objects that transcend geographic and temporal boundaries and challenging preconceived ideas about what is and is not art Avoiding traditional binaries such as East versus West and fine art versus decorative art Edward Cooke looks at the production consumption and circulation of objects made from clay fiber wood and nonferrous base metals Carefully considering the materials and process of making and connecting process to product and people he demonstrates how objects act on those who look at use and acquire them He reveals how objects retain aspects of their local fabrication while absorbing additional meanings in subtle and unexpected ways as they move through space and time In emphasizing multiple centers of art production amid constantly changing contexts Cooke moves beyond regional histories driven by geography nation state time period or medium Beautifully illustrated Global Objects traces the social lives of objects from creation to purchase and from use to experienced meaning charting exciting new directions in art history
