- Piaget: Swiss psychologist who created theory of cognitive development to explain the processes by which humans come to perceive, organize knowledge, define problems, and understand the world. According to this theory, human cognitive development is the product of a continuous, reliable pattern or plan of interaction with the environment. Humans go through various, inherent but goal-oriented strategies that help the person achieve more advanced goals. These schemes are continuously (re)creating to follow and work with, in which persons and their responses are generated, and cognition (based on experience and on mental images, reflecting the person's ability to develop the use of abstract reasoning and symbolism).
- Erikson: German psychologist who worked on human psychosocial development theory. Created 8 stages of life.
- Robert Rorty: Proposed panic stage, calling it both narcissism and development in women. Thought therapy proposed that more important feelings of inferiority because they cannot give birth to children.
- Western & Eastern: Created another basic solutions, which the same on psychological mechanisms, begins with non-specific teaching only, leads to partial teaching. Used to measure pleasure without pressure to perform and/or achieve goals.
- John Turk and Virginia Redman: started functional theory. They attributed to the school of life as PTA and influenced the work of Freud, Rogers & Maslow. This model was presented in contrast to the dogmatic school of thought (which was previously psychological).
- Anna Freud: worked on psychology
- Willy Reich: founder of gestalt theory
- Malcolm: founder of object relations theory
- Carl Rogers: founder of client-centered theory
- Freud & Maslow & Rogers: founder of systems theory
- Adrianne: "Father of family therapy." He particularly used a psychoanalytic approach, insight oriented.
- Kate & Whitaker: Communications in family therapy. Mainly experiential (through experiential communication and interaction, awareness of self and how leading to personal accountability, and increasing patterns of interaction. They focused on communication problems, double bind, faulty communication is caused by low self-esteem, and the presence of a particular type of relationship. Whitaker mostly operated with awareness and discussed the transference phenomenon. Initially communication family therapy acknowledged that transference factors can provide a foundation for family problems, but they did not try to interpret these factors. Family therapy after founded the emphasis on communication patterning and often referred to as the "White Hat" group.
