Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov I. A. Bunin, Maksim Gorky, Aleksandr Ivanovich Kuprin, Once he invited me to the village Koutchouk Koy where he had a tiny strip of land and a white two storied house There while showing me his estate he began to speak with animation If I had plenty of money I should build a sanatorium here for invalid village teachers You know I would put up a large bright building very bright with large windows and lofty rooms I would have a fine library different musical instruments bees a vegetable garden an orchard There would be lectures on agriculture mythology Teachers ought to know everything everything my dear fellow He was suddenly silent coughed looked at me out of the corners of his eyes and smiled that tender charming smile of his which attracted one so irresistibly to him and made one listen so attentively to his words Does it bore you to listen to my fantasies I do love to talk of it If you knew how badly the Russian village needs a nice sensible educated teacher We ought in Russia to give the teacher particularly good conditions and it ought to be done as quickly as possible We ought to realize that without a wide education of the people Russia will collapse like a house built of badly baked bricks A teacher must be an artist in love with his calling but with us he is a journeyman ill educated who goes to the village to teach children as though he were going into exile He is starved crushed terrorized by the fear of losing his daily bread But he ought to be the first man in the village the peasants ought to recognize him as a power worthy of attention and respect no one should dare to shout at him or humiliate him personally as with us every one does the village constable the rich shop keeper the priest the rural police commissioner the school guardian the councilor and that official who has the title of school inspector but who cares nothing for the improvement of education and only sees that the circulars of his chiefs are carried out It is ridiculous to pay in farthings the man who has to educate the people It is intolerable that he should walk in rags shiver with cold in damp and draughty schools catch cold and about the age of thirty get laryngitis rheumatism or tuberculosis We ought to be ashamed of it Our teacher for eight or nine months in the year lives like a hermit he has no one to speak a word to without company books or amusements he is growing stupid and if he invites his colleagues to visit him then he becomes politically suspect a stupid word with which crafty men frighten fools All this is disgusting it is the mockery of a man who is doing a great and tremendously important work Do you know whenever I see a teacher I feel ashamed for him for his timidity and because he is badly dressed it seems to me that for the teacher s wretchedness I am myself to blame I mean it He was silent thinking and then waving his hand he said gently This Russia of ours is such an absurd clumsy country A shadow of sadness crossed his beautiful eyes little rays of wrinkles surrounded them and made them look still more meditative Then looking round he said jestingly You see I have fired off at you a complete leading article from a radical paper Come I ll give you tea to reward your patience That was characteristic of him to speak so earnestly with such warmth and sincerity and then suddenly to laugh at himself and his speech In that sad and gentle smile one felt the subtle skepticism of the man who knows the value of words and dreams and there also flashed in the smile a lovable modesty and delicate sensitiveness We walked back slowly in silence to the house It was a clear hot day the waves sparkled under the bright rays of the sun down below one heard a dog barking joyfully Chekhov took my arm coughed and said slowly It is shameful and sad but true there are many men who envy the dogs And he added immediately with a laugh To day I can only make feeble speeches It means that I m getting old I often heard him say You know a teacher has just come here he s ill married couldn t you do something for him I have made arrangements for him for the time being Or again Listen Gorky there is a teacher here who would like to meet you He can t go out he s ill Won t you come and see him Do Or Look here the women teachers want books to be sent to them Sometimes I would find that teacher at his house usually he would be sitting on the edge of his chair blushing at the consciousness of his own awkwardness in the sweat of his brow picking and choosing his words trying to speak smoothly and educatedly or with the ease of manner of a person who is morbidly shy he would concentrate himself upon the effort not to appear stupid in the eyes of an author and he would simply belabor Anton Chekhov with a hail of questions which had never entered his head until that moment modernism in the theatre Chekhov practiced as a medical doctor throughout most of his literary career Medicine is my lawful wife he once said and literature is my mistress Chekhov renounced the theatre after the reception of The Seagull in 1896 but the play was revived to acclaim in 1898 by Konstantin Stanislavski's Moscow Art Theatre which subsequently also produced Chekhov's Uncle Vanya and premiered his last two plays Three Sisters and The Cherry Orchard These four works present a challenge to the acting ensemble as well as to audiences because in place of conventional action Chekhov offers a theatre of mood and a submerged life in the text Chekhov had at first written stories only for financial gain but as his artistic ambition grew he made formal innovations which have influenced the evolution of the modern short story He made no apologies for the difficulties this posed to readers insisting that the role of an artist was to ask questions not to answer them Anton Chekhov - Ultimate Collection Anton Chekhov, 2022-05-17 Anton Chekhov's Ultimate Collection is a compendium of the esteemed Russian playwright and short story writer's most iconic works showcasing his unparalleled mastery of character development and psychological insight This collection not only highlights Chekhov's unique style characterized by a poignant economy of language and a deft use of subtext but also situates these narratives within the broader context of late 19th century Russian literature capturing the complexities of human emotion and social reality With stories that range from the serene to the tragic Chekhov brilliantly evokes the intricacies of domestic life and the profound existential dilemmas faced by his characters Chekhov born in 1860 was deeply influenced by his medical background and the socio-political climate of imperial Russia His dual identity as a physician and a writer allowed him to perceptively explore the depths of human psyche while reflecting on the social issues of his time Chekhov's commitment to realism and his talent for portraying the mundane often infused with a sense of the absurd were revolutionary laying the foundations for modern literature This ultimate collection is a must read for anyone seeking to delve into the world of Chekhov His works resonate across time providing invaluable insights into the human condition Readers will find themselves captivated by his ability to convey complex emotions and the tenuous relationships that define our lives The Cherry Orchard / Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov Anton Chekhov, Maxim Gorky, Alexander Kuprin, I Bunin, Julius West, S. Koteliansky, Leonard Woolf, 2015-01-13 A proud Russian family reduced in circumstances after the death of the father is faced with the prospect of losing the family estate and its beloved cherry orchard Through careless generosity to others and a weakness for romantic ambitions they find themselves on the brink of bankruptcy The only hope offered for their salvation is the sale of the orchard and its subsequent removal in order to be leased for the construction of villas Is the price too high This is the subject of Anton Chekhov's enduring drama No one understood as clearly and finely as Anton Chekhov the tragedy of life's trivialities no one before him showed men with such merciless truth the terrible and shameful picture of their life in the dim chaos of bourgeois every day existence Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov (Classic Reprint) Maxim Gorky, 2017-09-18 Excerpt from Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov He was suddenly silent coughed looked at me out of the corners of his eyes and smiled that tender
