Understanding Mozart's Piano Sonatas John Irving, 2010 Mozart's piano sonatas are among the most familiar of his works and stand alongside those of Haydn and Beethoven as staples of the pianist's repertoire In this study John Irving looks at a wide selection of contextual situations for Mozart's sonatas focusing on the variety of ways in which they assume identities and achieve meanings In particular the book seeks to establish the provisionality of the sonatas' notated texts suggesting that the texts are not so much identifiers as possibilities and that their identity resides in the usage Close attention is paid to reception matters analytical approaches organology the role of autograph manuscripts early editions and editors and aspects of historical performance practice all of which go beyond the texts in opening windows onto Mozart's sonatas Treating the sonatas collectively as a repertoire rather than as individual works the book surveys broad thematic issues such as the role of historical writing about music in defining a generic space for Mozart's sonatas their construction within pedagogical traditions the significance of sound as opposed to sight in these works and in particular their sound on fortepianos of the later eighteenth century and the creative role of the performer in their representation beyond the frame of the text Drawing together and synthesizing this wealth of material Irving provides an invaluable reference source for those already familiar with this repertoire

Popular Science, 2007-05 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003 Music, Books on Music, and Sound Recordings Library of Congress, 1988 The Gramophone, 1955 Lars von Trier Beyond Depression Linda Badley, 2022-02-15

Lars von Trier built a reputation as a provocateur from the start but in the late 2000s he entered an even more inflammatory phase. Amid Cannes controversies Antichrist 2009 Melancholia 2011 Nymphomaniac 2013 14 and The House That Jack Built 2018 brandished the cinematic virtuosity von Trier once banned under the Dogme 95 Manifesto while subjecting audiences to extreme cinema. Following von Trier's experience of clinical depression in 2006 and 2007 these films took an aggressively personal and retrospective turn against the backdrop of the director's controversy courting public appearances. Playing against widespread assumptions Linda Badley takes a reparative approach offering an in depth examination of these four films and the contexts that produced them. Drawing on numerous interviews with the director and his collaborators as well as inside access to archival materials she provides a thorough and comprehensive account of von Trier's preproduction and creative process. Highlighting a transmedial turn Badley tracks von Trier's artistic touchstones from Wagner Proust and the Marquis de Sade to Scandinavian erotic cinema and serial killer genre tropes. She considers his portrayals of mental illness and therapy gender and sexuality nature and extinction shedding light on the thematic concerns that unite these films as a distinct cycle. Offering nuanced readings of these films the book emphasizes the significance of von Trier's work for current critical and philosophical debates showing how they engage with notions of the Anthropocene dark ecology and the postcinematic.
