The No-Good Preacher Charles L. White, Lois Moore, 2010

Charles couldn't remember his mother ever saying she loved him; he had only harsh demeaning words for the boy who had never been good enough for her. So when she kicked him out after his father died, he left without a backward glance. Somehow he survived on one meal a day for more than a year. He managed to finish high school while working two part-time jobs to pay his tuition. He even found a way to give God the bitterness he'd carried all those lonely years. And he discovered that God wanted him to be a preacher—a sentiment not shared by the head of the religion department at his chosen college. Charles wasn't preacher material, said he. Ah, but when God has something in mind for one of His beloved children, neither the head of the religion department nor all the forces of Hitler's army can dissuade Him.

Women and Chinese Patriarchy Maria Jaschok, Suzanne Miers, 1994 This collection reveals many forms of servitude that Chinese women have endured and the avenues of escape open to some of them. The authors are anthropologists, historians, and sociologists, but the book is enriched also by contributions from the participants: a social worker, a mui tsai, and a colonial civil servant. The chapters are based on original documentary or oral research and personal experience, and throughout the book the voices of the women, their owners, and their missionary rescuers can be clearly heard.

La Nilsson Birgit Nilsson, 2015-12-01 First published to wide acclaim in Sweden 1995 and in Germany 1997, the autobiography of opera legend Birgit Nilsson 1918-2005 is finally available in an English translation. From her humble roots in rural Sweden to her artistic triumphs in Stockholm, Bayreuth, Milan, and the Metropolitan Opera House, this candid and utterly charming memoir reveals the personality behind one of the great voices of the past century. Gracefully weaving together the private and professional, Nilsson chronicles her idyllic childhood in Västra Karup, the early recognition of her unique natural abilities, and her first tentative steps into a wider artistic world. After achieving national acclaim in Verdi's Lady Macbeth, she went on to establish herself as the dominant Wagnerian soprano of her generation, appearing at the Bayreuth and Munich Festivals and the Vienna and Bavarian State Opera Houses, creating along the way definitive performances of Sieglinde, Brunnhilde, and Isolde. The book details her rise to international stardom, with behind-the-scenes recollections of her phenomenal triumph as Turandot at La Scala in 1958 and her headline-making Met premier in Tristan und Isolde the following year. Nilsson's long and illustrious career, she performed until 1984, her celebrated professional and personal relationships, her friendships and rivalries, are all recounted with a down-to-earth wit and an engagingly odd admixture of ego and self-effacement. She tells it all: the legendary quips, the often prickly relationships with Met impresario Rudolph Bing and conductor von Karajan, the infamous story of the stalker Miss N, and the touchingly rendered relationship with her beloved husband Bertil Niklasson. What emerges from these pages is a diva in the old mold, a giant voice matched by an oversized personality, a professional who expected the same level of perfection from others that she demanded of herself, and a woman who loved and lived life with joy and good humor. And oh, that voice. Includes 56 photographs and a discography.
