Radioactivity is like a clock that never needs adjusting writes Doug Macdougall It would be hard to design a more reliable timekeeper In Nature's Clocks Macdougall tells how scientists who were seeking to understand the past arrived at the ingenious techniques they now use to determine the age of objects and organisms By examining radiocarbon C 14 dating the best known of these methods and several other techniques that geologists use to decode the distant past Macdougall unwraps the last century's advances explaining how they reveal the age of our fossil ancestors such as Lucy the timing of the dinosaurs extinction and the precise ages of tiny mineral grains that date from the beginning of the earth's history In lively and accessible prose he describes how the science of geochronology has developed and flourished Relating these advances through the stories of the scientists themselves James Hutton William Smith Arthur Holmes Ernest Rutherford Willard Libby and Clair Patterson Macdougall shows how they used ingenuity and inspiration to construct one of modern science's most significant accomplishments a timescale for the earth's evolution and human prehistory General Sheridan Henry Eugene Davies, 1895 Resources in Education ,1998 American Woodsman ,1951 The Merchants' Magazine and Commercial Review ,1844 Hunt's Merchants' Magazine ,1844 The lumberman's directory and reference book of the United States and Canada R. London In particular it reveals the ambitions of one man Sir Robert Moray the key driving force behind the society Building on his detailed experience of another organization and the principles on which it was based Moray was able to structure and gain finance for the Royal Society This other organization the Invisible College as Boyle called it is known today as Freemasonry Freemasonry and the Birth of Modern Science will make you reassess many of the key events of this period and will show how Freemasonry supported by Charles II was the guiding force behind the birth of modern science under the cover of the Royal Society Catalog of Copyright Entries.
