practices in the group continue certain features of historical Christianity serving in similar ways to conform women's bodies to patriarchal norms while providing opportunities for women's self development Taking into account these tensions Bacon asks what a specifically feminist theological response to weight loss might look like If ideas about sin and salvation service hegemonic discourses about fat while also empowering women to shape their own lives how might they be rethought to challenge fat phobia and the frenetic pursuit of thinness As well as naming as sin principles and practices which diminish women's appetites and bodies this book forwards a number of proposals about how salvation might be performed in our everyday eating habits and through the cultivation of fat pride It takes seriously the conviction of many women in the group that food and the body can be important sites of power wisdom and transformation but channels this insight into the construction of theologies that resist rather than reproduce thin privilege and sizeist norms

Drawing on his own personal experience of nutrition and metabolism, as well as sound research often overlooked by personal trainers, trained diet and nutrition advisor John Elwell shows you the simple steps to making a lifestyle change that allows you to enjoy food and drink, not by eating less, but by eating appropriately. From humble beginnings, using himself as a guinea pig, John's self-help methods allow healthy eating with a minimal lifestyle change. With volunteers from all walks of life, he perfected his approach to nutrition and metabolism and now uses it to help YOU in a relaxed and proven method focussing on the right sort of food and drink, tailored to the individual rather than as a guide to calorie counters that never seem to work anyway.
