Common Core CPR ReLeah Cossett Lent, Barry Gilmore, 2013-09-27 The ideal Newly minted high school graduates all across the nation each one a complex text genius a writer and analytic thinker beyond compare All on to glorious colleges and careers thanks to the Common Core The reality The 1 3 million students who fail to graduate from high school each year and the hundreds of thousands more who either gave up or lost interest long ago The reality is why Common Core CPR is needed Urgently Because if we continue to insist that all students meet expectations that are well beyond their abilities and mindsets these kids will only decline faster We must be brave enough and trained enough to cast aside what we know harms students and apply with renewed vigor the teaching methods we know work Releah Lent and Barry Gilmore rise to the challenge and there are no two authors better equipped to do so They embrace what is best about the standards their emphasis on active authentic learning and then explicitly show teachers how to connect these ideal outcomes to practical classroom strategies detailing the day to day teaching that can coax reluctant learners into engagement and achievement You ll learn how to Consider choice and relevance in every assignment Plan and spot opportunities for success Scaffold students comprehension of complex fiction and nonfiction texts Model close reading through thoughtful questioning Teach students to use evidence in reading writing speaking and reflection And so much more It s not the big sweeping formulas for achievement that will win the day it s the incremental growth that teachers need to make happen that one book that one writing assignment to help a student turn a corner If we can get that one transformational moment to occur and follow it up by designing more opportunities for success that s the ideal say Lent and Gilmore Fantasies of Witnessing Gary Weissman, 2018-07-05 Fantasies of Witnessing explores how and why those deeply interested in the Holocaust yet with no direct familial connection to it endeavor to experience it vicariously through sites or texts designed to make it real for nonwitnesses Gary Weissman argues that far from overwhelming nonwitnesses with its magnitude of horror the Holocaust threatens to feel distant and unreal A prevailing rhetoric of secondary memory and trauma he contends and efforts to portray the Holocaust as an immediate and personal experience are responses to an encroaching sense of unreality In America we are haunted not by the traumatic impact of the Holocaust but by its absence When we take an interest in the Holocaust we are not overcoming a fearful aversion to its horror but endeavoring to actually feel the horror of what otherwise eludes us Weissman focuses on specific attempts to locate the Holocaust in the person of Elie Wiesel the most renowned survivor and his classic memoir Night in videotaped survivor stories and Lawrence L Langer s celebrated book Holocaust Testimonies and in the films Shoah and Schindler s List These representations he explains constitute a movement away from the view popularized by Wiesel that those who did not live through the Holocaust will never be able to grasp its horror and toward re-creating the Holocaust as an experience nonwitnesses may put themselves through It is only by acknowledging the desire that gives shape to such representations and by exploring their place in the ongoing contest over who really knows the Holocaust and feels its horror that we can arrive at a more candid assessment of our current and future relationships to the Holocaust he says     Resources in Education ,1998     Co-Teaching That Works Anne M. Benninghof,2012-01-24

There are no Right Answers to Wrong Questions

Peter C. Wilcox,2016-06-28 Abraham Joshua Heschel said that We are closer to God when we are asking questions than when we have the answers He believed that to be a Christian is not to be a person who knows all the answers but one who lives in the part of the self where the question is constantly being born Most of us don t think very much about our questions In our culture we are accustomed to being able to find out answers to nearly any question just by typing it into Google search or asking Siri But behind any answer there is always a question Sometimes the question isn t clear to us sometimes it is not very well articulated even to ourselves But it is always there In over thirty years as a psychotherapist and spiritual director Peter C Wilcox has seen how the questions people ask themselves have shaped their lives in some very important ways This book is an invitation to see how important it is to learn how to ask the right questions about our lives This is because our choice of questions leads us on a path of discovery towards answers that help us to grow spiritually and psychologically Our questions orient our lives and give direction to us We will see that they enable us to make fifteen choices that have a tremendous impact on the kind of person we become

Interruptions J. Matthew Ashley, 1998-12-08 Johann Baptist Metz is one of the most important Roman Catholic theologians in the post Vatican II period however there is no comprehensive overview of his theological career This book fills that gap It offers careful analyses and summaries of Metz's work at the various stages of his career beginning with his work on Heidegger and his collaboration with Karl Rahner It continues with his work in the nineteen sixties when he moved off in a radically different direction to found a new political theology culminating in his seminal work Faith in History and Society Metz addresses themes ranging from the situation of the Church after Auschwitz the future of religious life in the Church and the relationship between religion and politics after the end of the cold war J Matthew Ashley covers all of Metz's writings along with his crucial relationships to figures like Karl Rahner Martin Heidegger Ernst Bloch Walter Benjamin and the social critics of the early Frankfurt School Interruptions shows that despite the dramatic turn in the nineteen sixties there is an underlying continuity in Metz's thought Ultimately however the underlying continuity in Metz's career is defined by a spirituality a spirituality that is painfully yet hopefully open to the terrible suffering that characterizes our century a spirituality founded in the Prophets in Lamentations and in the figures of Job and the Jesus of Mark's Gospel This book shows how Metz has tried to find theological concepts adequate for expressing this spirituality which he calls a Mysticism of open Eyes or of suffering unto God and to work out its political implications To this end the book has an opening chapter on the relationship between spirituality and theology and a closing chapter that shows that the most fundamental difference between Rahner and Metz is rooted in the different Christian spiritual traditions out of which the two operate Interruptions is essential reading for anyone interested in Spirituality and Mysticism and in their relation to political philosophy Elie Wiesel, the Shtetl, and Post-Auschwitz Memory Christine June Wunderli, 2023-04 How are Holocaust events remembered and narrated and why What knowledge can Holocaust testimony convey Christine June Wunderli explores these questions as she examines four works by Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel Guided by Bourdieu's theory of literary field as well as Young's theory of literary representation she traces Hasidic influences in Wiesel's writing Her conclusions are telling Wiesel's narratives are born as memory is pulled towards both Auschwitz and the shtetl caught up in the tension between the two Still the emerging trajectory is one of hope led by a new categorical imperative Problems Unique to the Holocaust Harry J. Cargas, 1999-01-01 In Problems Unique to the Holocaust today's leading Holocaust scholars examine the difficult questions surrounding this terrible chapter in world history Is it ever legitimate to betray others to save yourself If a group of Jews is hiding behind a wall and a baby begins to cry should an adult smother the child to protect the safety of the others Should the men and women who took their own lives in the face of the Nazi onslaught be considered suicide or murder victims How guilty are the bystanders who saw what was happening but did nothing to aid the victims of persecution Educating for Empathy Nicole Mirra, 2018-08-31 Recipient of the 2019 NCTE David H Russell Award Educating for Empathy presents a compelling framework for thinking about the purpose and practice of literacy education in a politically polarized world Mirra proposes a model of critical civic empathy that encourages secondary ELA teachers to consider how issues of power and inequity play out in the literacy classroom and how to envision literacy practices as a means of civic engagement The book reviews core elements of ELA instruction response to literature classroom discussion research and digital literacy and demonstrates how these activities can be adapted to foster critical thinking and empathetic perspectives among students Chapters depict teachers and students engaging in this transformative learning offer concrete strategies for the classroom and pose questions to guide school communities in collaborative reflection Book Features Responds to our current divisive political climate to explore what empathy really means and what it takes to teach for it Explores an innovative concept of critical civic empathy that goes beyond simply being nice to others and emphasizes making positive changes in government and society Provides an engaging synthesis of theory and practice that shows how foundational ELA activities can be used to support the development of empathy and civic engagement Focuses on both personal empathy seeing other points of view and global empathy understanding the power of position and privilege in social interactions Includes real world examples from a variety of schools and discussion questions at the end of each chapter

Witness Between Languages
Peter Davies, Peter J. Davies, 2018 A growing body of scholarship is making visible the contribution of translators to the creation preservation and transmission of knowledge about the Holocaust The discussion has tended to be theoretical or to concentrate on exposing the distorted translations of texts by important witnesses such as Anne Frank or Elie Wiesel There is therefore a need for a positive concrete and contextually aware approach to the translation of Holocaust testimonies that acknowledges the achievements of translators while being sensitive to the consequences of particular translation strategies Peter Davies's study proceeds from the assumption that translators are active co creators whose work does not simply mediate a pre existing text but creates a representation of that text for a new readership in a specific context Translators of Holocaust testimonies then provide a form of textual commentary that works through ideas about witnessing historical truth and the meaning of the Holocaust In this way they are important co creators of knowledge about the Holocaust and its legacy The study focuses on translations between English and German and from other languages principally French Russian and Polish into English and German It works through a number of case studies showing how making translation and its effects visible contributes to a clearer understanding of how knowledge about the Holocaust has been and continues to be created
