Community-based Maternity Care Geoffrey Marsh, Mary Renfrew, 1998-10-22 This important book makes the case for placing maternity care in the community. It has been written by a multidisciplinary group. The first section considers the role and function of the participants in community based maternity care: the woman, the midwife and the GP. The second section discusses four major contemporary issues: the radically changing social background, the economics of care, audit and education of the carers. Next, the major clinical challenges in maternity care are tackled: how to reduce the differences in morbidity and mortality which are associated with differences in age, social class and ethnicity; the care of disadvantaged groups; prematurity and low birth weight; and their prevention. Technology used in childbirth and the fetal origins of adult disease. Finally, all aspects of the clinical care carried out by GPs and midwives are covered. The editors hope that after reading this book, midwives, GPs and obstetricians should find the theory underpinning their work has been sharply defined and that their work will be more effective and evidence based. The editors, a GP and a midwife, anticipate the resolution of the current tensions between midwife, GP and obstetrician and look forward to a responsive, effective and sensitive service for mothers and babies in the next millennium.

Pregnancy, Childbirth, Postpartum, and Newborn Care, 2003 This guide provides a full range of updated evidence based norms and standards that will enable health care providers to give high quality care during pregnancy, delivery and in the postpartum period, considering the needs of the mother and her newborn baby. All recommendations are for skilled attendants working at the primary level of health care, either at the facility or in the community. They apply to all women attending antenatal care in delivery, postpartum or post-abortion care, or who come for emergency care, and to all newborns at birth and during the first week of life or later for routine and emergency care. This guide is a guide for clinical decision making. It facilitates the collection, analysis, classification and use of relevant information by suggesting key questions, essential observations and/or examinations and recommending appropriate research based interventions. It promotes the early detection of complications and the initiation of early and appropriate treatment, including time referral if necessary. Correct use of this guide should help reduce high maternal and perinatal mortality and morbidity rates prevalent in many parts of the developing world, thereby making pregnancy and childbirth safer.
