Heloise, 2012 The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Peter Abélard, 2011-06-01 Abelard and Heloise are nearly as famous a pair of tragic lovers as the fictional Romeo and Juliet their shared passion for knowledge religious faith and one another sealed their destiny Abelard was a well respected 12th century Parisian scholar and teacher and Heloise was his talented young student The two relate their story through a set of letters to one another and intimate acquaintances Their ardor is unmistakable as Abelard writes to his love So intense were the fires of lust which bound me to you that I set those wretched obscene pleasures which we blush even to name above God as above myself This forbidden lust resulted in a pregnancy and secret marriage and when their union could no longer withstand the challenges in its path each lover sought refuge in the church Abelard became a monk and Heloise an abbess Their correspondence continued as both achieved success in their new careers but continued to struggle with their feelings for one another the set of letters powerfully articulates the wide range of emotions they experienced So timeless is their love story that after eight centuries their passion their devotion and their struggle still resonate with readers

Heloise, Abelard, 2014-10-25 The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Translated from the original Latin and now reprinted from the edition of 1722 by Ralph Fletcher Seymour In his Historia Calamitatum an autobiographical piece written around 1132 Abelard tells the story of his seduction of Heloise whom he met when in 1115 he himself like Fulbert became a canon in Paris It is unclear how old Heloise was at this time She is described as an adolescentula young girl and so it is often assumed that she was about seventeen at the time having been born in 1100 More recently however Constant Mews and subsequently David Constant have suggested that the age of seventeen is a seventeenth century fabrication with no supporting contemporary evidence and that she was probably as old as 27 at the time The main piece of evidence for this is that in a later letter Peter the Venerable writes to Heloise that he remembers her when he was a young man and she was a woman this they suggest implies that Heloise was at least as old and possibly older than Peter Given that Peter was born in 1092 it would mean that Heloise would have been nearer 27 at the time of the affair They suggest that this makes more sense of Abelard's later comment that he sought to seduce Heloise because she was the most famous woman in France for her studies because as they suggest she would have been unlikely to have acquired this reputation by the age of 17 More tentatively the extent of Heloise's accomplishment in Greek and Hebrew and her mature response to the relationship might indicate someone older than 17 Abelard tells how he convinced Fulbert to let him move into his house telling Fulbert that he could not afford to live in his current house while studying and offering to tutor Heloise in return Abelard tells of their subsequent illicit relationship which they continued until Heloise fell pregnant Abelard moved Heloise away from Fulbert and sent her to his own sister in Brittany where Heloise gave birth to a boy whom she called Astrolabe It is almost unknown what happened to Astrolabe in later life He is never mentioned by Heloise in her letters to Abelard and Abelard's only reference to him outside the Historia Calamitatum is in the verses of advice addressed to him and thought to have been written about 1135 His death day is recorded in the necrology of the Paraclete as 29 or 30 October but no year is given He is mentioned only once in a later letter when Peter the Venerable writes to Heloise I will gladly do my best to obtain a prebend in one of
