

To Whom It May Concern,

I highly recommend Emily Smith as a candidate for graduate school. I have worked with Emily in my position as Associate Director, Name College.

While a student at Name College, Emily was employed in various positions including teaching a museum program to fourth grade classes in the Saratoga Springs School District, teaching both adults and children to ride horses, and managing horse show participation for a local riding stable. She accomplished all these tasks with great initiative and with a very positive attitude.

Emily has a wonderful rapport with people of all ages, especially the "at-risk" children she worked with at Carroll Hill School and Prospect Child and Family Center. Emily has a special talent working with the children who need more guidance and support than those typically found in a traditional classroom setting.

Her ability to connect with her students and her talent at teaching simple concepts, as well as more advanced topics, are both truly superior. She has excellent written and verbal communication skills, is extremely organized, reliable, and computer literate.

Emily would be a tremendous asset to your program and I recommend her to you without reservation. If you have any further questions with regard to her background or qualifications, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Pennington, Barbara Hoekje, 2010-06-21 Language Program Leadership in a Changing World An Ecological Model presents a comprehensive view of management and leadership in language programs as situated in a complex globalized context with rapidly changing characteristics. The language program is described as an extensive ecology made up of many different types of interacting parts which leaders of these programs must manage and balance with strong attention to context and to the future. The discussion emphasizes the complexity of the job of leading a language program and the many types of roles the leadership must fill in monitoring the program and its context for continuity and change and leading with an eye to the future. The focus is on college and university English language programs with discussion of the place they occupy within academia and in relation to other types of language programs e.g. foreign language and English composition. The book is both practical and theoretical offering case studies and overviews of nuts and bolts issues of administration such as financial data and people management in addition to an original model that problematizes and theorizes the language program based on notions of ecology and frames a review of research and suggestions for further research. The Grants Register 2025
