

GENERAL

Yale Rigid Mount I-Beam Trolleys are designed especially for use on KEL2, KAL2 Chain Hoists and Series Y80 Electric Wire Rope Hoists. They attach directly to suspension brackets of lug mounted hoists.

Trolleys are shipped partially disassembled to make it unnecessary to take them apart before mounting on hoist. This also makes it easier to properly adjust the trolleys to fit the particular beams on which they are to operate. Correctly fitted trolleys travel easier and last longer.

Your new Yale Rigid Mount Trolley can be assembled to your hoist and the complete unit then installed on its runway beam with a minimum of effort by following the directions given here.

ASSEMBLY OF TROLLEY TO HOIST

Place hoist on workbench, suspension lug facing up, and proceed as follows:

1. If trolley is a hand geared type rated 2 tons or less, make certain that proper size anti-tilt roller is installed on inside of one side plate before assembling trolley to hoist. Two rollers are provided with each hand geared trolley to accommodate full range of beam sizes that trolley is designed for. A small roller, suitable for I-beam sizes of 10" up to largest specified for trolley has been pre-installed by the factory. If trolley is to operate on an I-beam smaller than 10", substitute the larger roller, which is shipped loose, by removing the outer "C" ring and replacing the smaller roller. For other than standard I-beams, measure beam flange thickness and allow not less than 1/16" clearance between roller and bottom of beam flange.
2. Before attaching trolley to hoist, first determine proper spacing of trolley side plates to provide adequate wheel clearance (approximately 1/8") on both sides of I-beam, between inside faces of wheel flanges and edges of bottom beam flange. Proper spacing is obtained by varying number of spacer washers, (furnished with trolley) which are installed on suspension cross pins, between suspension lug and trolley side plates.

3. Due to manufacturing tolerances, I-beams having the same size designation may vary in the width of their flanges. This makes it impossible to prescribe the specific number of spacer washers required between trolley side plates and lug for any particular beam size. As a result the following procedure should be followed:

4. Measure exact width of bottom beam flange and add 1/4" to this dimension. This is the required distance between inside faces of wheel flanges to obtain proper operating clearance, as indicated in Figure 2.
