Kennedy anthropology Memorial U of Newfoundland explores the little known European settlers of southeastern Labrador between the Chateaux and Sandwich Bays He shows how their annual migration between farming and fishing sites has been interrupted during the 20th century and the people have become centralized and dependent as in other rural areas Among the other highlights are the role of Inuit enclaves in the early European settlement the impact of the Grenville mission industrial and military developments and how people adjusted to some intrusions and not to others Canadian card order number C95 930516 5 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Tombstone Llewelyn Pritchard,2013-03-01 Tombstone The British Government s Cover Up Port Hope Simpson Newfoundland and Labrador Canada Part 2 3 Series Title Port Hope Simpson Mysteries Vol 5b What was really going on behind the scenes For the first time declassified official British Government papers shine new light on amongst other things Government mismanagement as knowledge hidden by an incongruous granite tombstone in Port Hope Simpson Newfoundland Labrador Canada marked the starting point for this unique history of development of a logging settlement in southern Labrador Rural Employment Ray D. invited by J O Williams the owner of the Company to allow his name to be given to the place where the camp was first set up However by so doing Sir John not only left himself open to accusations of favouritism in context of his official role for the Commission of Government 1934 1949 that ruled the island Evidence also shows that he was also involved in a chain of events including lack of houses for the loggers and their families lower than expected and unpaid loggers wages suppression of an official report on loggers wages and a trading monopoly held by the Company store in Port Hope Simpson which meant the people were forced to live on credit and in poverty that debatably contributed to the circumstances leading to the above two deaths Sir John Hope Simpson is also known for having established the Newfoundland Rangers a welfare and police force modelled on the RCMP that was supposed to link people especially those of the outposts in Labrador including Port Hope Simpson with The Commission of Government in St John s on the island of Newfoundland However and most suspiciously the majority of Newfoundland Ranger Clarence Dwyer s Monthly Reports on the General Living Conditions in his district as well as the other Labrador Reports are missing from the Archives collection in St John s Newfoundland Labrador Canada C Dwyer was the most likely Port Hope Simpson Ranger on duty when the deaths occurred in 1940 Dedication This book is dedicated to obtaining justice for Erica D Anitoff Williams three and a half years and her young father Arthur Eric Williams 27 years who died in their Labrador Development Company home Port Hope Simpson in acrimonious suspicious circumstances in the early hours of 3 February 1940 <http://www.rcmp.ca>

humour many different historical insights into the period under scrutiny including The Crusaders views of the Dominion of Government certain Commissioners being recalled to London at crucially important times in context of the 2 deaths surveying work of the Labrador coast as well as letters from the legendary Sir Wilfred T Grenfell K C who was very angry with Sir John Hope Simpson but was that only about another matter
