Brattston, 2014-10-01 Traditional Christian Ethics features two exhaustive alphabetical lists of affirmative commandments and prohibitions from the earliest Christian ethics as found in writers before the mass apostasy of 249-251 AD The affirmatives or positives list consists of what Christians are were commanded or encouraged to do The other list is of negatives or prohibitions i.e. what Christians are were discouraged from doing similarly arranged The source material for the

The Maker's Instructions David Pawson,2014-01-14 King Alfred is perhaps best remembered for allowing cakes to become burnt but he did something far more significant and of lasting value He used ten commandments given to the Jewish people centuries before as the foundation of English law He instinctively knew they contained the recipe for a safe and successful society The secret they all contain is respect Respect for God first for his uniqueness his nature his name his special day then respect for each other our families life itself marriage property and reputation Churches have urged members to memorise the Ten Commandments along with the Lord s Prayer and the Apostles Creed often putting all three up on the wall as summaries of the Christian faith and life as well as using them in worship But how can principles laid down so long ago and so far away be relevant to contemporary society Well as one New Testament translator J B Phillips puts it By the straight edge of God s law we find out how crooked we are Only after this discovery are we ready to consider the gospel of Jesus

Habits and Men, with Remnants of Record Touching the Makers of Both John Doran, 1854 The Emergence of Christian Theology Eric Francis Osborn, 1993-04 There are special times of movement in the history of ideas and one such time as the author of this study shows was the second half of the second century when Christian thought showed fresh vigour By concentrating on five seminal Christian thinkers of the second century Justin Athenegoras Irenaeus Clement of Alexandria and Tertullian Eric Osborn illustrates how it was that Christianity made monotheism axiomatic to its central doctrinal claims while adapting too to the peculiar circumstances in which it developed The stimulus for new thought came from the objections of the state philosophers Jews Gnostics and Marcion who in different ways denied the Christian claim to faith in one God In response Christian thinkers argued for one God who was the first principle of being goodness and truth In its presentation of the lively beginning which brought Christianity and classical thought together this book casts light on the growth of the European intellectual tradition
