The missing woodland resources Marian Berihuete-Azorín,María Martín Seijo,Oriol López-Bultó,Raquel Piqué,2022-07-20 Woodlands are a key source of raw materials for many purposes since early Prehistory Wood bark resin leaves fibres fungi moss or tubers have been gathered to fulfill almost every human need That led societies to develop specific technologies to acquire manage transform elaborate use and consume these resources The materials provided by woodlands covered a wide range of necessities such as food shelter clothing or tool production but they also provided resources employed for waterproofing dyeing medicine and adhesives among many others All these technological processes and uses are commonly difficult to identify through the archaeological record Some materials are exclusively preserved by charring or in anaerobic conditions at very exceptional sites or leave only a very slight trace behind them e.g. containers. Consequently they have received far less attention in archaeobotanical studies compared to other kind of plant materials consumed as food or firewood. This book provides an overview of technological uses of plants from the Palaeolithic to the Post Medieval period. This collection of papers presents different archaeobotanical and archaeological studies dealing with the use of a wide range of woodland resources, most of them among the less visible for archaeology such as bast fibres and fungi. These papers present different approaches for their study combining archaeology, archaeobotany and ethnoarchaeology.

Photogrammetry Christopher D. Armstrong, 2018-11-02. Collision Reconstruction Methodologies Volume 3A. The last ten years have seen explosive growth in the technology available to the collision analyst, changing the way reconstruction is practiced in fundamental ways. The greatest technological advances for the crash reconstruction community have come in the realms of photogrammetry and digital media analysis. The widespread use of scanning technology has facilitated the implementation of powerful new tools to digitize forensic data, create 3D models and visualize and analyze crash vehicles and environments. The introduction of unmanned aerial systems and standardization of crash data recorders to the crash reconstruction community have enhanced the ability of a crash analyst to visualize and model the components of a crash reconstruction. Because of the technological changes occurring in the industry, many SAE papers have been written to address the validation and use of new tools for collision reconstruction. Collision Reconstruction Methodologies Volumes 1-12 bring together seminal SAE technical papers surrounding advancements in the crash reconstruction field. Topics featured in the series include Night Vision Study and Photogrammetry, Vehicle Event Data Recorders, Motorcycle, Heavy Vehicle, Bicycle and Pedestrian Accident Reconstruction. The goal is to provide the latest technologies and methodologies being introduced into collision reconstruction, appealing to crash analysts, consultants and safety engineers alike.
