

Security Guard Essentials

What is on your belt?

Well-equipped security guards need to be able to move quickly and keep their hands free. These essentials should be attached at the waist to your duty belt.

Flashlight

Good for day and night use. Choose one that is made of high-quality metal, that is also durable, rechargeable and hard resistant.

Baton

Used to keep people at distance and force compliance. Can be used for self defense in close-quarter confrontations.

Pepper Spray

Temporarily irritates attackers. Can come in different types - foam, gel and fog. Training is required before use.

Digital Camera

Helps with documentation. Cameras with video capability can capture events, injuries and property damage and use for court testimony.

2-way Radio

Essential for keeping contact with others, allows you to mobilize quickly while responding to incidents, disturbances, or theft.

Mobile Phone

Make sure it is fully charged with contact numbers on speed dial. Add messaging apps like Power to act like a walkie talkie and locator.

Handcuffs

Use may require special permission by your employer. Training is often required for correct use for the safety of both you and the detainees.

Knife

Check for specific policies regarding carrying knives. Special training is required so that it will not be used against you.

Or Defence And Security Or Essentials:

Reframing the EU's Common Security and Defence Policy Bogdan Rus, 2024-09-02 This book reflects the European Union's need for hard power in order to provide the military security its own citizens demand but understand too little. In this sense the paper stems from the need to clarify the next possible evolution of the current Common Security and Defence Policy of the EU while also introducing to the public the controversial possibility of the EU joining forces and creating its own army. Beyond the theoretical background the paper proposes a practical exploratory approach which addresses data and forecasts for testing such a major administrative undertaking while including both a qualitative and quantitative approach. Suitable for a wide range of audiences from the young generation to scholars, research centres, development hubs, political decision makers or legislators, the paper aims to bring more clarity and concrete solutions to the current stages of military cooperation and integration of the EU's Member States while opening at the same time new and relevant paths towards further and deeper research reflections in this regard.
