Childs, 2013-07-02 Cities and towns are among humanity s greatest achievements yet no single individual or organization creates them The buildings streets and gardens of even a small town embody substantial investments of money natural resources and political capital Much more than the sum of its parts a settlement s vitality comes from its collective composition Sometimes the cities and towns that emerge are glorious places but too frequently they have only fragments of greatness or are soulless and environmentally unhealthy Our new Architecture Brief Urban Composition shows architects planners artists and engineers of individual projects how they can best fulfill their public trust to help make meaningful urban places Each chapter contains a set of design queries followed by a discussion illustrations and references for further research This accessible primer on urban design provides guidelines for designing buildings or plans for large cities or small towns Urban Composition showcases projects across the United States and internationally in metropolitan areas such as Chicago Seattle and London and small communities such as Marfa Texas

BUILDING FUTURES An approach to Information Modeling engaging concepts of equality sustainability and labor as they relate to environment and architectural practice Building Futures Technology Ecology and Architectural Practice explores how architects and the buildings and environments we create can engage future realities both abstract and readily understood These range from climate change and public health to advanced ideas about manufacture and construction The text demonstrates multiple and hybrid paths in which building information modeling BIM and outgrowth technological processes including environmental simulation and human robot interaction can be utilized in today's contemporary context expanding the architect's agency by focusing on a more conceptual and ecological basis for our work Moving beyond a basic understanding of the role of computation in architecture and design the work shows how to think critically and speculatively about technology's deeper and more lasting impacts on both architecture and society Topics covered in Building Futures include Technology information modeling and the relationship between computational and real objects new approaches to coding in architectural design and direct to manufacture workflows Environment understanding part to whole relationships at a variety of scales and the interconnectedness of things post subjective architectural approaches to ecology and new ideas about sustainability Practice revisiting architecture by remote control in the time of new global challenges and novel ideas about creativity authorship and professionalism Design professionals and practice leaders grappling with the relationship of technology to design pedagogy will use Building Futures to better theorize and execute their architectural vision Students in upper level courses studying technique and theory will also find value in the work which prepares incoming professionals for the major changes that the Architecture Engineering and Construction AEC industry may undergo in the coming years and decades The book prompts us to consider simulating events where architecture and architects could mitigate redirect or develop contingencies in relation to the environment flows of material and capital and other things that operate from the immediate through to almost geological timescales From the Foreword by Robert Stuart Smith Director of the Autonomous Manufacturing Lab University of Pennsylvania
