The Education of the Professional Musician Hildegard C. Froehlich, Kris Chesky, 2000 The legendary Greek figure Orpheus was said to have possessed magical powers capable of moving all living and inanimate things through the sound of his lyre and voice Over time the Orphic theme has come to indicate the power of music to unsettle subvert and ultimately bring down oppressive realities in order to liberate the soul and expand human life without limits The liberating effect of music has been a particularly important theme in twentieth century African American literature The nine original essays in Black Orpheus examines the Orphic theme in the fiction of such African American writers as Jean Toomer Langston Hughes Claude McKay James Baldwin Nathaniel Mackey Sherley Anne Williams Ann Petry Ntozake Shange Alice Walker Gayl Jones and Toni Morrison The authors discussed in this volume depict music as a mystical shamanistic and spiritual power that can miraculously transform the realities of the soul and of the world Here the musician uses his or her music as a weapon to shield and protect his or her spirituality Written by scholars of English music women s studies American studies cultural theory and black and Africana studies the essays in this interdisciplinary collection ultimately explore the thematic linguistic structural presence of music in twentieth century African American fiction The Scientific Study of Society Max Steuer, 2013-03-09 Tradition recognises five social sciences anthropology economics social psychology sociology and political science But who knows what is going on in all five disciplines Social scientists from one discipline often know little or nothing about the progress made by social scientists from another discipline working on essentially the same social problem Sometimes even of a neighbouring discipline is terra incognita the methodology The problem becomes worse when we widen the remit to natural scientists and engineers I have found little evidence myself that they see themselves as standing on the other side of an unbridgeable gulf between two cultures They observe the intellectual excesses of those few newage social scientists who see themselves fighting a science war but the ignorance of these innumerate critics is so apparent in their grossly naive attacks on natural science that they are not taken seriously However although natural scientists appreciate that most social science is genuine science they seldom know much about how and why it is done as it is This can lead to serious inefficiencies in areas in which the traditional frontiers between social and natural science are melting away An example is the frontier between the economies of imperfect competition and evolutionary biology Reversing the usual bias the evolutionary biologists commonly know little mathematics and hence find the game theory literature hard to read with the result that they often spend their time re-inventing the wheel Child Psychiatric Epidemiology Frank C.
