Paints and their allied products like varnishes enamels pigments printing inks and synthetic resins protect assets from corrosion. These are increasingly being used in automotive engineering and consumer durable sectors. Paint testing can be done in a number of different ways. The fact of the matter is that many industries use several different paint testing methods in order to ensure accurate results. Paint should be tested in a wet form for particular properties but also in the dry form. Testing of paints generally falls into three categories: testing of the raw materials, testing of the finished product, and performance testing using accelerated weathering and other simulation type methods of evaluation. Coatings technologists deal with interfaces of all classes: gas-liquid as in an aerosol spray, liquid-liquid as in an emulsion, gas-solid as in a dry pigment, before its immersion in a vehicle, liquid-solid as in a pigment dispersion, and solid-solid as when the crystal faces of two different pigment particles are in tight contact. Paint scientists are particularly interested in the formation of liquid-solid interfaces that are stable in the package, that is, in the permanent replacement of the air at the air-solid interface of the pigment by the vehicle to give the liquid-solid interface of the dispersion. In coatings and similar products, the criteria for best performance: particulate ingredients, inorganic, organic extender, and metallic flake pigments, and dispersed phase of latexes depends on the size and shape of particles composing the particulate materials. The purpose of paint testing is to help and ensure that the minimum requirements for ingredients and material characterization are met by the manufacturer on a batch basis and to help ensure that the formulated product will provide satisfactory performance in the environment. Handbook on Paint Testing Methods explains about aspect of gloss, specular, glass sheen, contrast, gloss, absence of bloom, gloss, distinctness of image, gloss, specular, gloss, evaluation, specular, reflectance, geometric considerations, instrumentation, goniophotometers, specular, glossmeters, basic factors producing hiding power, refractive indexes of white pigments, refractive indexes of organic pigments, films for testing, preparation of films for test pigments and extenders, metallic flake pigments, latexes, methods for determining particle treatment of data, particle size with light microscope etc. This handbook elaborates the different testing methods of paints with an understanding of the various tests that can be performed on product performance. This handbook will be very helpful to its readers who are related to this field and will also find useful for upcoming entrepreneurs, existing industries, technical institution etc. TAGS Paint and Coating Testing, Paint Adhesion Testing, Paints Coatings Materials Testing, Paint Testing Methods, Paint Testing Equipment Coating Testing Methods, Paint Testing Commercial, Paint Testing Paint Industry in India, How to Start Paint Industry in Small Scale, Specular, Glass Hiding Power, Basic Factors Producing Hiding Power, Hiding Power of Colored Pigments, Van Eyken Anderson Method, Hiding Power Versus concentration for Titanium Pigments, Formulation of Paints from Predetermined S
