English for academic purposes : learning english through the web

Barahona Fuentes, Claudia; Arnó Macià, Elisabet;,2001 This is a virtual elective course for university students who need to use English in their academic work This means that this subject is not related to a particular degree course engineering biology law etc but it aims to help students develop their language learning skills and at the same time to foster extensive practice in language use with the Internet as the basic learning tool Therefore this is an instrumental course which is essentially practical and emphasizes communication rather than language study It differs from a traditional language course in that it has been designed basically as a tool to help students learn to learn English That is to say the syllabus is not based on specific language content graded in terms of difficulty but it is composed of a series of practical activities to encourage students to learn English effectively and independently by choosing materials suited to their level of English and to their learning style For this reason this course can be taken by students with different levels of English as long as they are familiar with the basic structures of the language and can more or less communicate in English

Intersections in Language Planning and Policy Jean

Fornasiero,Sarah M. A. Reed,Rob Amery,Eric Bouvet,Kayoko Enomoto,Hui Ling Xu,2020-09-28 This volume encompasses the range of issues encountered by language scholars who teach and research in departments of languages and cultures within the higher education system predominantly in Australia but touching other universities worldwide Related studies on language planning methodology or pedagogy have focused on one or more of these same issues but rarely on their totality. Intersections as a metaphor running discreetly through the essays in this volume connects them all to a lived reality. The field of languages and cultures as it is practised and reflected upon in Australian universities is essentially an interdisciplinary and interconnecting space, one in which linguistic and disciplinary diversities meet and join forces rather than collide or disperse along different pathways. The international and local studies featured here focus on language planning, new pedagogies and language reclamation and link to meeting points and commonalities. They show that language scholars are increasingly finding themselves on common ground as they tackle issues of policy and practice affecting their field, whether within their institutions within the tertiary system or within the framework of government policy. Resources in Education, 1996

Proceedings of 3rd Interdisciplinary Conference on English Studies. Assessment, Testing, and Measurement Strategies in Global Higher Education Railean, Elena Aurel, 2020-01-03. Teachers assist students in order to gain data and to determine whether the instructional objectives have been met. Usually the assessment process takes place as part of ongoing learning and teaching periodically and at key transitions. The term assessment refers to the wide variety of methods, procedures and tools used to determine what students know, learn and how they apply knowledge in concrete situations. Assessment, Testing, and Measurement Strategies in Global Higher Education is a comprehensive synthesis of correlations between assessment, testing and measurement in the context of global education. It analyzes the impact of educational technology on learning, analytics, challenges of rapidly changing learning environments and computer-based assessment. Featuring an assortment of topics such as educational technologies, risk management and metacognition, this book is optimal for academicians, higher education faculty, deans, performance evaluators, practitioners, curriculum designers, researchers, administrators and students. English in Mind Level 1B Combo with Audio CD/CD-ROM Herbert Puchta, Jeff Stranks, Richard Carter, Peter Lewis-Jones, 2007-07-09.
