You are now asked to journalise and post the adjusting entries after completing the worksheets. This is because, in the manual accounting system, the worksheet is not part of the journals and ledgers. Therefore completing the Adjustments column in the worksheet does not automatically update the appropriate ledger accounts. Since this practice set is a manual accounting practice set, you are still required to manually journalise the adjusting entries and post them to the general ledger as a separate step.

The purpose of adjusting entries is to ensure that the general ledger account balances reflect the income earned and expenses incurred during the accounting period.

Remember that the details of the end of month adjustments for June are as follows:

- Cash Registers owned by the business: original purchase price was $12,000, estimated useful life was 5 years, and estimated residual value was $1,500 at the end of the useful life. Depreciation is calculated on a monthly basis using the straight line method. The monthly depreciation change is calculated as the yearly depreciation expense divided by the number of months in a year.
- Store Fixtures owned by the business: original purchase price was $45,000, estimated useful life was 9 years, and estimated residual value was $5,500 at the end of the useful life. Depreciation is calculated on a monthly basis using the straight line method. The monthly depreciation change is calculated as the yearly depreciation expense divided by the number of months in a year.
- The water usage for the month of June is estimated to be $1.05.
- The estimated electricity payable as at the end of June is $475.
- Sales staff work every single day during the week, including weekends and are paid on a weekly basis. Wages were last paid up to and including 24 June. Wages incurred after that day (from 25 June to 30 June inclusive) are
