These are the key findings from the 2009-2010 survey. The survey was conducted by the National Health and Medical Research Council (NH&MRC) and the Australian Government Department of Health and Ageing. The survey was the first of its kind in Australia and provided valuable information on the health and well-being of the Australian population. The survey also identified areas for improvement in the health care system and provided a basis for the development of health policy and practice.
